AIRPORT BONDS IN DOUBT?

Jet Noise: A N. County Debate

PUBLIC UTILITIES Commissioner Thomas P. White declared last week that he would recommend that a $40-million bond issue for San Francisco airport expansion not be put on the city's ballot this year because the climate in the North County is not healthy for expansion.

White made the statement at the end of an Airport Sound Abatement Committee hearing attended by Daly City Mayor Francis Pacelli, Mayor Neal Christal of San Bruno, James K. Carr, San Francisco Public Utilities director and State Assemblyman Leo Ryan.

Ryan had asked for the session so that he could be brought up to date on airport noise problems in the North County.

DURING THE meeting, Mayor Christal disagreed with airline officials who had said jets do not drop oil on houses as they pass overhead.

"Anytime you want to look at the homes along Seventh Avenue in San Bruno," Christal said, "you can see what kind of an emulsion it is.

"When a jet goes over, you can rub your finger along the housepaint, and leave a smear."

Sound Abatement Committee Chairman William Townsend had commented that any fallout "could not be oil, and I don't know what it could be."

Ryan offered to "do anything I can to help get federal funds for extension of runways," after Carr said the airport is now planning an extension of runway 28-R, the major north-south runway, to 10,600 feet, but that U. S. funds to expand it to 11,780 feet had been denied.

The runway is now 9,750 feet long, he said, and would be extended into the bay equal to the distance Runway 28-L already extends into the bay.

AIRPORT AND airline officials noted that this lengthening would help both noise and safety, by getting planes higher into the air while taking off over neighboring South San Francisco and Daly City.

Other committee members, and Congressman J. Arthur Younger's aide, George McQueen, pointed out that the committee had been making some progress in reducing noise over the past several years, and was continuing to make progress.

Ryan attempted to pin the experts down on what could be expected with supersonic jets and was told that FAA specifications require that the supersonics be no louder than currently used three-engine jets.

"Ten years from now I do

JESD Says Pact 'Breached'

Board Will Now Act to Hire Aide

Foster States He'll Pursue Matter

By DON MILLER

Acting upon the advice of counsel, the Jefferson Elementary School District's board of trustees now considers a contract with former Supt. Richard L. Foster "breached" and will move to hire a successor.

Trustees will meet in special session at 8 tonight to consider personnel hiring and are expected to name Frank L. Greenwood as the new superintendent at that time.

Greenwood, superintendent of the Lowell Joint School District in Whittier for the past four years, was hired as a special consultant to the board last week until a legal snarl tying up the superintendent's chair has been resolved.

Thomas Noonan, chairman of the board of trustees, said this week that "as far as we're concerned, the contract (with Foster) is breached."

He said this occured when Foster did not report to work August 2.

Asked for comment yesterday, Foster said he planned to "pursue" the matter and that he would discuss the controversy with his attorney before a further step is taken.

He added that "it would not be appropriate at this time" to say anything further.

Foster had been asked to report for work August 2 or elect to continue in his new job as

Daly City's 'Big Step Forward'

NEO-CLASSIC building design, landscaped access ways and ample parking will highlight the new Daly City Civic Center, seen in this architect's sketch. A bid for construction of the center, to be situated between 90th and 92nd Streets and Edgeworth and Sullivan Avenues, was awarded by the City Council Monday night. Construction is expected to take 18 months. The center will bring together many city departments now housed under more than one roof.

County Fair Opens With New and Old

By GEORGE GOLDING

Combining new and old into a big, friendly package with something for everyone, the 31st San Mateo County Fair and Floral Fiesta opened Friday night with perfect weather and near-perfect attendance.

The old-new image is clearly presented in the enlarged and refurbished Hall of Flowers, where a new facade rests firmly on familiar foundations.

Fair officials said a gate-count showed the opening night's attendance reached 17,375, a moderate increase over last year's opening day count of 17,094.

Saturday, the attendance was 30,124 (including Bay Meadows racing) and Sunday the count was 20,902.

Though first-day attendance has proven a poor indication, Fiesta officers are predicting a total attendance of close to 200,000 during the nine-day show. Last year's total climbed over 185,000, with the Hall of Flowers out of commission.

Bigger than ever, almost too roomy, the building is not quite finished and gives evidence of the labor difficulties which delayed its completion and in turn delayed the exhibits.

Yet it returns to the Fiesta the comfortable old high-ceilinged flower show, resplendent with multi-colored and jumping fountains, splashing waterfalls, billows and banks and mounds of flowers, ferns and fronds.

Again the macadam pathways, sometimes more than damp, lead between gemlike gardens, again the side-rooms (unfinished) display charming cut-flowers and rows of formal displays.

Once more there is an art show, better than ever with separate categories for modern and conservative works. First prize winner is a truly delightful con-

Doelger Gets Value Change

Reductions in assessed values totaling $73,000 for property held by the Henry Doelger Company on the coastside and in the Westlake area were approved Monday by the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors sitting as a board of equalization.

Four days of equalization hearings on appeals of the county's farmland owners will begin today before the board, with at least 160 protests to be heard.

The Doelger Company had requested assessment reductions on 24 parcels of property, and the county assessor's office had

Tax Rate of CSM to Be Cut 5 Cents

San Mateo Junior College District trustees last week gave final approval to an $8,054,554 budget for 1965-66 which will result in a 5-cent cut in the tax rate.

The budget, based on the general fund total, is up roughly $1.1 million from 1964-65. More than $800,000 of that figure results from salary increases and hiring of additional personnel to keep pace with the district's rapid enrollment growth.

Board members pointed out, during the meeting on the College of San Mateo campus, that the local property levy could have been reduced considerably more—because of the big jump in county-wide reassessments—if state financial support for the new fiscal year had not dropped even more drastically.

The reassessments, it was indicated, mean a decline of nearly three-quarters of a million dollars in state aid from the expected 1965-66 level.

And this loss, members said, shifts a higher proportion of the

D.C. Hall Gets Starter's Flag

Daly City's Civic Center project, described by City Manager Edward Frank as "one of the biggest steps forward ever taken" by the city, got the starter's flag Monday night.

The City Council awarded a bid for $2,201,503 to the Guy F. Atkinson Company of South San Francisco for construction of the complex, which will be of neo-classic design, according to architect Donald F. Haines.

The bid was the lowest of five that had been submitted. However, it was about $450,000 higher than Haines had estimated.

A round of wage increases in the construction industry since he had prepared his estimate was blamed for the difference in figures.

The center will be constructed by a non-profit corporation, formed by the city, on a site between 90th and 92nd Streets and Edgeworth and Sullivan Avenues.

Under the terms of the bid, construction must begin within 10 days. The Council will meet next Monday night to complete contractural agreements and a ground-breaking ceremony is expected to be scheduled at that time.

The basic bid for the Civic Center was $2,174,503. However, the Council also decided to take up four options submitted with the bid: a pneumatic tube communications system, $6,000; a police garage, $10,000; a communications tower, $7,000 and a communications room, $4,000.

City Manager Frank told the Council the award of the bid culminated two years' work on the part of the council in choosing and obtaining a site and 18 months' work on the part of the Finance Department in securing financing for the project.

The complex will be financed from the proceeds of a bond issue to be floated by the nonprofit corporation. The company has agreements with three major financial institutions to float the bonds.

Frank said completion of the Civic Center, expected in about 18 months, would provide "a

Decision on Tax Held Up

The setting of Daly City's property tax rate for the 1965-66 year is being held up, pending the receipt of the county's final assessed valuation roll. The rate last year was $1.50 per $100 of assessed valuation.

The city has a legal deadline of October 1 to set the rate, according to Finance Director Joseph Arch.

The county must submit the

Laguna OKs Budget; Tax Cut Foreseen

The Laguna Salada District's board of trustees has adopted a budget for the 1965-66 fiscal year that is expected to result in a tax cut—the figure to be determined by the county schools office after the district's final assessed valuation total is determined.

A tax cut of nine cents per $100 of assessed valuation had been estimated by District Supt. Fred Lucas in a budget draft presented at a public hearing last week.

The cut, he said, was based upon a preliminary assessed valuation figure given to the district July 16 by the county.

In the first draft of the budget earlier this year, a 35-cent tax increase had been estimated. This estimate was made, however, before the results of the county's reappraisal program were known.

The budget, as adopted, calls for a $67,000 reduction in the undistributed reserve and a

D.C. Grants Employes 3½% Raise; Hike Called 'Inadequate' by Union

The Daly City Council Monday night granted an across-the-board pay raise of 3½ per cent to employes, a raise that was immediately assailed by a union as "totally inadequate."

Approved along with the pay boost was a reclassification of many employes' jobs, undertaken after a study by the council.

Besides the 3½ per cent, police and firemen will receive an additional 5 per cent.

Frank Gillis, business manager for local 919 of the Municipal Employes Union, submitted a letter to the council, which stated that "the wage increase which you have arrived at for . . . employes is totally inadequate."

The letter charged that employes have received only token increases for the past three years and said the council has not given "full consideration" to the inequities that existed in the old salary schedule.

"Too long have . . . employes lived on promises while others have received the money in our city," the letter continued.

"There is no question that you have available the funds to correct this inequity of wages which exists and we wish to express in the strongest of terms our dissatisfaction with the wage increase you have proposed."

Councilman Albert Polonsky said that the local's letter "seems to impart a lack of awareness of what the council has been trying to do."

He said councilmen had met with Gillis and worked out a program of correcting inequities in the salary schedule and in the classification of employes.

He said the result was "not perfect" and added:

"We have not batted a 1,000 per cent, but we have batted a very good percentage."

The city is not in favor of wage equalization with other cities, Polonsky said. "We are endeavoring to bring about the superintendent of the new San Ramon Unified School District in Contra Costa County.

In the event he chose to stay in his new job, the district said it would consider its old four-year contract with him terminated. The contract had three years left.

The alternatives had been drawn up in a letter sent to Foster at the advice of Assistant District Attorney Lois Scampini who had ruled that Foster had submitted an illegal resignation in May and that, in effect, the district still had a superintendent.

Foster handed in his resignation May 26, asking that it be made effective at the close of a 17-week vacation period in October.

The board of trustees accepted the resignation and agreed to pay Foster 17 weeks vacation pay. The arrangement was approved by the county schools office.

Miss Scampini, however, subsequently ruled the resignation was not legal. She said a resignation submitted in one fiscal year could not be made effective in the next fiscal year. The district's year ends June 30.

In the letter sent to Foster, the district said it had granted him the period June 28 to July 30 as a vacation period.

At stake in the controversy is about $4,500—the difference in vacation pay Foster would have received under the terms of his first resignation and the vacation pay for the June 28 to July 30 period.

At a board meeting last week, Foster charged the district was trying to break an agreement. He said the district had acted in a "self-serving" way and was trying to hide behind a technicality.

Noonan said this week that some segments of the community "seem to think we asked for Dick's resignation." He added this was untrue and that Foster had made the first move.

He said the board was not opposed to releasing the results of closed personnel sessions in which Foster's resignation was tendered and accepted if Foster would agree to this.

Noonan said he had asked the former superintendent last week if he wanted a public hearing on the entire matter and that Foster had replied he didn't.

Navy Moms' Day Is Set

Navy Mothers' Day will be observed in Daly City Saturday, according to a proclamation issued by Mayor Francis Pacelli.

The proclamation called upon all residents to pay respect to the mothers of Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard personnel—veterans, deceased and active duty.

Members of the Daly City Navy Mothers' Club will visit Naval installations Saturday to note the special observance.

That License Could Earn Prize Money

Readers of The Post-Times are still eligible to join a "lucky License" cash prize contest now ending its first week with more than 1,000 participants.

Sponsored by The Times, San Mateo county's largest daily newspaper, the "Lucky License" game features the awarding of at least $50 per day in cash prizes.

Readers may join in the fun by displaying The Times' "Lucky License" bumper strip on the rear bumper of their vehicles.

Each day, a Times' "mystery photographer" visits random spots throughout San Mateo County, photographing vehicles displaying the "Lucky License" strips.

A photograph of one of these autos is then published in the next day's edition of The Times. Owner of the vehicle has until 10 a.m. the following day to claim the $50 prize.

The prize is doubled to $100 for winners who are subscribers to The Times. If the daily prize is not claimed, the $50 cash is added to the next day's prize.

"Lucky License" bumper strips are available at all four offices of The Post and The Times.

The North County office of The Post-Times is at 30 Park Plaza Drive, Daly City.

servative painting of a boat on the sand dunes, by Mary Cross.

The show is one of the most pleasing art displays at the fair in recent years, containing perhaps a heavier concentration of traditional art along with some excellent moderns and some equally excellent sculpture.

Always good, the Fiesta's photography show seems a little weaker this year, spread over the Hall of Flower's entry foyer, though it includes several interesting pictures.

Outside, the combination of new and old continues, familiar faces in new costumes, common attractions in new guise.

While the evening "Showtime 65" filled the Fiesta Bowl and kept the crowd applauding its dancers, its music, and its comedy, an unexpected snow attracted nearly as large an audience at the carnival.

There, atop a trailer-house wax museum featuring the Beatles, two or three girls danced discotheque fashion under spotlights.

The urgent modern beat, the twisting shaking girls, filled the open space in front of the exhibit with parents and teen-agers on their way to and from the carnival.

The Fair will continue each day through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

terrific impact to the city as far as city services are concerned." And he added:

"Altogether, it is one of the biggest steps forward ever taken by the City of Daly City."

Mayor Francis Pacelli, after the bid was awarded, introduced a representative of the Guy F. Atkinson Company and exhorted: "All right, gentlemen, let's get going."

In other action Monday night, the council:

APPROVED applications for non-flashing signs at 7189 Mission Street, at the northwest corner of Bayshore Boulevard and MacDonald Avenue and at 6232 Mission. Two of the applicants were gasoline service stations and a third was a new car dealer.

ADOPTED new duty statements for the Recreation and Finance Departments.

APPOINTED Arthur Reschke city engineer, effective August 1. He had been acting city engineer since April 26 when William Chapman resigned.

APPROVED plans for the extension of Sullivan Avenue to Mary's Help Hospital. Reschke said the extension, which will cost $200,000, "will be a real service to the hospital and the community."

He added that he hoped the city would be able to open bids on the project this week and that the extension would be open by the time the hospital opens its doors, which is expected to be sometime late this year.

best job we can do in Daly City.

Gillis replied that the union did not mean to infer the council had not given employes full consideration.

"The proof of the pudding is in the eating," he philosophized. "Where we disagree is in the results. The final score did not add up to what it should add up to."

Councilman Edward Dennis criticized the union's letter, saying "it only gives you half the story." He added he felt the council "did a fair job in regard to municipal employes at this time."

The new salary schedule gives a $1,990 yearly raise to the city manager, boosting his salary to $20,040. Other department head pay raises and their new salaries are:

Finance director, $2,140 raise to $16,416; city engineer, $14,280 (City Engineer Arthur Resche was not in the employe of the city last year); police chief, $1,490 to $15,012; fire chief, $13,824 (Fire Chief Herbert Ritzmann was a battalion chief last year); recreation director, $1,420 to $11,928; city librarian, $900 to $11,388 and city attorney, $1,400 to $11,004.

$10,000 reduction in the general reserve accounts.

Trustees also approved a salary boost for teachers of slightly more than 3.5 per cent and a 3.5 increase for other employes.

The administration reported that an additional $17,000 would be needed to provide the funds for the increases and to maintain about $55,000 in reserves.

A motion to levy a tax for the extra costs of running a seventh and eighth grade program to provide the $17,000 failed.

In other action, the board accepted a bid from Bottari and Holland for liability insurance coverage for the district for 1965-66. The bid was $4,664.

S.S.F. Road Plan Gets a Vocal Breeze

South San Francisco planning commissioners expected a verbal hurricane Monday when they opened the question of widening Chestnut Avenue, but they got a mere vocal breeze.

Only four speakers appeared at the commission meeting, and three of them asked questions which were answered by displays of maps and aerial photos.

The fourth suggested only that the planners keep in mind a divider strip on Chestnut Avenue where it crosses Mission Road.

The commissioners will now transmit their findings to the City Council for further action.

The board asked Mrs. Elizabeth Biermann to drop her use permit application, to allow a "Speedee Mart" south of Holly Avenue on Mission Road, because she no longer needs a use permit. All she needs is a building permit, they explained, because the area's zoning has recently been changed to allow the type of business she has in mind.

Commissioners approved variances for Eugene Field and for Mr. and Mrs. William Strong, granted a use permit for Westborough Homes Planned Unit D, approved rebuiluing of an advertising company sign on Bayshore, and approved dedication of a portion of Callan Drive at King Drive.

agreed to reductions on seven parcels. The board of supervisors allowed reductions on a total of eight parcels.

Largest of the reductions was $37,000, from $283,000 to $246,000 on a large parcel of coastside property held by the firm.

An unprecedented number of assessment protests are being heard by the board this year in the wake of the program undertaken by County Assessor Ralph Woodman to raise all assessments to 25 per cent of true market value.

Coaches' Suit Is Postponed

Scheduled trial by a group of Jefferson High School District athletic coaches was postponed Monday until August 30.

The postponement was made on motion of Superior Court in Redwood City because of the unavailability of a trial judge due to vacations and court trials already in progress.

The coaches are seeking more pay on the position that they are primarily teachers and that coaching is extra work deserving extra salary.

They filed suit after the district board of trustees turned down a request for extra pay for coaching.

City Awaits Decision on Assessments assessed roll to the city not later than the third Monday in August, Arch reported yesterday. And he added:

"It doesn't look as though they're going to make it on time."

Arch had reported at Monday night's council meeting that the city had a August 30 deadline to set its tax rate.

However, he checked the requirements later and found that this date would have been applicable only under the old system where the property was assessed by city assessors rather than county personnel.

At Monday's session, Councilman Albert Polonsky wondered why new automated equipment in the county assessor's office has not helped speed preparations of the assessed valuation roll.

City Manager Edward Frank said the roll is in a state of flux because of continuing hearings before the board of supervisors, acting as a board of equalization, and because of the possibility the state board of equalization might lower the entire roll.

not want you aircraft people complaining to us that the cities grew in on the airport," Ryan said.

"Cities should have laws right now to prevent homes from being built any closer to the airport than they actually are. Beyond that, the airports should see that the noise does not get any greater."

CARR HAD SUGGESTED that the problem of noise nuisance "must be attacked on the local level."

He said local politicians should make efforts to assure that homes and apartments are not built under landing and take-off patterns.

"But they don't like to do that," he said, "that would be working in an area where it would cost them votes."

Mayor Pacelli suggested that Carr is "too politically oriented." He said there might be areas where construction under flight paths could be controlled.

Happy Birthday, Judge!

SUPERIOR Court Judge Frank Blum of Daly City was accorded special tribute Saturday night when 240 friends turned out to help him celebrate his 50th birthday at a dinner-dance in the New Lake Merced Country Club. Admiring a set of golf clubs, one of many gifts presented to the well-known jurist during the evening, Blum is pictured with members of his family, back row, left to right: Frank Blum Jr. and William Blum, sons; Tony Arthur, a nephew, and Dian Blum, daughter. Front row, left to right, are Blum, Mrs. William Poulos, his mother, and Mrs. Frank Blum. The event was planned by a committee comprised of Michael De Bernardi, Bernard Lycett, Robert Hunter, McRobert Stewart and Frank Monte.

Pacifican Knifed at Drive-in

Ann Townsend, owner and manager of Ann's Drive-in at San Jose Avenue and Francisco Boulevard in Pacifica, was stabbed Sunday afternoon as she worked behind the counter of her cafe.

Her husband, George, 48, was arrested for the stabbing, and charged with assault with intent to commit murder.

He was to be arraigned Monday morning in North County Judicial District Court.

Police said Mr. and Mrs. Townsend have had several battles which have brought police attention in the past few years. Investigators said they were at work together when the fight developed.

After an exchange of hot words, officers report, Townsend reportedly swung at his wife while holding a butcher knife with an eight-inch blade.

She was admitted to Peninsula Hospital's intensive care unit, where she is reported in satisfactory condition today.

THEFTS REPORTED

Garvis Corn of 75 Poncetta Drive, Daly City, reported to police last week that a gold vase and a blue planter had been stolen.

Seven in D.C. Family Hurt in Freeway Crash

Seven members of a Daly City family were injured Saturday when the van bus in which they were driving to the San Mateo County Fair sideswiped a gasoline tanker and overturned on Bayshore Freeway after a tire blew out.

The mishap occurred at 4:15 p.m. Saturday just north of the Broadway overpass in Burlingame.

Highway Patrolman Ralph Percival said the southbound van, driven by John L. Wildman, 17, of 3 Woodland Avenue, Daly City, went out of control after the left front tire apparently blew out.

The vehicle began to swerve, clipping a gasoline tanker driven by Lawrence E. Lane, 31, of 371 Arroyo Drive, South San Francisco, then overturned in the divider strip, the officer reported.

Taken to Peninsula Hospital were young Wildman, scalp cuts and abrasions; his father, Edward Wildman, 40, back pain and abrasions; Jeffrey Wildman, 15, broken right collarbone and abrasions; Mrs. Murial Wildman, 37, back and scalp cuts and abrasions; James Wildman, 17, abrasions and cuts; Pam and Patty Wildman, both, 10, abrasions and cuts.

WINDOWS BROKEN

Officials of Tom's Brake Service at 6465 Mission Street, Daly City, reported to police last week that three windows had been broken.

Couple Ask $50,000 in Boy's Death

A $50,000 suit for damages was filed in Superior Court last week by the parents of an 8-year-old Daly City boy who drowned in the catch basin of a storm drain last December 19.

Mr. and Mrs. William James Jackson, 632 St. Francis Boulevard, ask the damages for the loss of their son, William Jr., who drowned when he climbed into the seven-foot-deep basin to recover a tire with which he had been playing.

The drain is located at Southgate and Cerro Drives in Daly City and was constructed and is maintained by the state, which is named the defendant in the suit.

The plaintiffs assert in their suit that they had filed a $50,000 damage claim with the State Board of Claims but that the board had ignored their claim.

Demurrer To Lynch Suit Filed

Alfred R. Lynch, controversial Pacifica school teacher, has suffered from "functional angina pectoris," his attorney, Clarence Knight, said last week.

Knight explained that in times of stress his client has developed sysmptoms of a heart attack so severe that he was as ill as if he had suffered the real thing.

It is this condition, the lawyer said, that kept Lynch absent from his teaching job in the fourth grade of Vallemar School.

The Laguna Salada School District, which has fired Lynch from his teaching position, has filed suit in Superior Court alleging that Lynch was absent on sick leave "without authorization or good cause."

The suit was filed because Lynch is fighting his dismissal.

In court last week, Knight submitted a demurrer to the suit, arguing that it does not allege specifically that his client is in violation of any of the district's rules.

The demurrer was taken under submission by Judge Howard Hartley, who indicated he will make an early decision.

Water Tanks Are Painted

Two large water storage tanks at Skyline Boulevard and Sharp Park Road are being given a face-lifting by the North Coast County Water District.

The tanks, which had been painted black and had been called "ugly" and "unsightly" by residents in the area, are being painted green to blend in with the landscape.

Harland Hill, manager of the water district, said a third tank, though belonging to Westborough, also may be painted to conform with the appearance of the other two tanks.

By LE PACINI

WHEN MY father-in-law was dying in Notre Dame Hospital in San Francisco three years ago, I met a hospital chaplain whose mold they must have used when they cut the stereotype for the gentle, kindly Irish priest.

He seemed to forever be with the family at the worst moments, at the proper time, and never failed to say the right things. He was never too busy to come by the room to "see how things are."

You know how things are when someone's desperately ill. People tend to lose track of time. One night, when things weren't so bad, I suddenly remembered that I hadn't eaten dinner, so I got a hamburger-to-go at a nearby restaurant and brought it back to the room.

I had just opened the paper bag when the priest walked into the room, smiling as usual, and I offered him half of my hamburger. Without changing facial expression, he politely declined, said a few words to the family, and quickly left the room.

It was only after he was out the door that someone realized it was Friday and here I was, not only eating meat, but offering some to a priest.

Though I saw the priest many times after that, he never mentioned the incident and I was grateful. That moment of his understanding has always represented to me the finest example of what I guess you would call priestliness.

DURING THE lighter moments, in the halls, the priest loved to talk and displayed a great interest and knowledge of sports. He got quite a charge out of the fact that I had played with and against some of his "boys" while in high school. The conversations were delightful, and helped to brighten what were otherwise torturous days. I've always suspected the priest arranged to have the sports discussions when spirits were at their lowest ebb.

It wasn't until after our personal tragedy was over that I discovered that the priest — as do all people — had recently had his own problems. While serving in Vacaville, he had gotten cancer of the larynx and for three years couldn't even whisper. After three operations, though, and his "prayers to the Blessed Mother," he miraculously recovered.

Father Kelly has led an active and interesting life in the priesthood which is, he admits, due in part to the fact that he's "a hustler."

Wherever Father Kelly has been, activity has set in, athletics have been promoted, championships have been won.

BORN IN San Francisco's Mission district in the year of the earthquake and schooled in San Leandro and Oakland (in high school his ambition was to be a sports writer, but he ran track and boxed), Father Kelly studied for the priesthood at St. Joseph's College in Mountain View and was ordained in 1934.

His first assignment was at St. Bruno's Church in San Bruno, where he assisted the late Yankee great, Tony Lazzeri, with the CYO baseball team, which lost the championship by one game.

He was next an assistant pastor in Larkspur for three years and then was assigned to San Francisco's North Beach area where for the next 10 years his CYO athletic teams bucked the great Salesian Boys' Club. He came up with two basketball championships and took his 1948 St. Francis of Assisi squad to the state CYO championship.

At St. Theresa's on Russian Hill he drew $600 gates at exhibition boxing matches featuring boxers like Bobo Olson. He even cajoled Stanford boxing coach Ray Lunny into coaching his CYO squad.

At Vacaville he assisted the high school football coach before cancer felled him.

And, of course, there's no need reiterating the great work Father Kelly's done at the Church of the Good Shepherd.

I once heard someone describe Father Kelly as the kind of man who makes you forget he's a priest. I think what that person really meant was that Father Kelly is the kind of priest who makes you realize that a priest is a man.

BASEBALL NOTES and thoughts: We hope Bobby Bragan continues to order his pitchers to throw spitballs because the Giants are murdering them — all of which proves one of three things: either Bragan's a liar, the effectiveness of spitballs is overrated, or Milwaukee misses their old spitball tutor, Lew Burdette. . . . Milwaukee, making a real run at the pennant, may be disproving the old saw that a team plays better when people are rooting for it. . . . The Giant pitching staff has thrown more shutouts than any team in baseball this year. . . . low as the Yankees are, they're still, to a degree, showing class in that while continually at the bottom of American League standings in hitting and home runs, they've been running third-fourth almost all season in total runs scored — which proves they make everything count.

As a contrast, the Giants have been running right around the middle of the standings in hitting and home runs but have almost continually been at nearly the bottom of the league in runs scored.

Not only have the Yankees been hampered by injuries all year, they also all seem to be having their worst season. Bobby Richardson is the only man on the team who's hitting at about his lifetime batting average and at around .260, he's leading the team in hitting!

Pitchers being hit hard aren't necessarily out of their "stuff." Hitters are major leaguers, too, and wouldn't be in the lineup if they weren't capable of hitting good stuff. . . . Bert Campaneris, K.C. outfielder, and Jose Cerdenal, L.A. Angel outfielder, are not only running one-two in the A.L. in base stealing but also are second cousins. . . . Dodger pitchers probably win more of their own games with hitting than do the other players on the team. Dodger pitchers must learn to hit for self-preservation.

LOCAL NOTES: Daly City's top Giant draftee, Alan Gallagher, was the last time we looked, hitting around .300 at Tacoma, the Giants' top farm team, and whacking all kinds of doubles and triples. . . . D.C. policeman Rich Brewer, who's also czar of the PAL, is still coaching despite his announcement last year that he was retiring from coaching to devote more time to administration. He's handling two basketball teams.

Woof for CSM!

A TWO-YEAR-OLD English bulldog, whose official registered name is Griff's Beauregard McTige, is the new mascot for the College of San Mateo Bulldogs. He'll appear at major athletic events and rallies in the upcoming academic year. The bulldog has been nicknamed Beau. He's the first mascot for CSM teams in several years. Kathi Benson, a CSM cheerleader, is knitting a blue sweater for the dog.

Moonlight Sale Spurs a Deluge of Shoppers

ALTHOUGH the moon wasn't supposed to be full until tomorrow, it was enough in evidence last Thursday night to help along a huge turnout of shoppers at the Westlake Shopping Center's annual Moonlight Sale. Crowded store scenes (above) were typical throughout the center during the sale, which ran from 6:30 to 10:30 p.m. As in past years, some salesclerks wore night gowns and pajamas to keep in the spirit of things. S.S.F. Widow Will Receive $50 Payments

Joseph A. Bustos, convicted of manslaughter in a fatal traffic accident in which he insisted he was not driving, was ordered last week to pay $50 a month to the widow of the dead man.

Superior Judge Louis B. Dematteis ordered the payments to start after Bustos, 34-year-old San Francisco barber, completes a six-month county jail sentence. The defendant was also placed on probation for four years.

Bustos' lawyer, Robert Scott, asked that Bustos be admitted to bail pending an appeal, but Judge Dematteis ordered the defendant to jail to start serving the sentence.

William Yanes, 34-year-old South San Francisco utility company lineman, was killed on June 22, 1964, when hs sports car struck another auto on Spruce Avenue in South San Francisco. Police found Yanes, Bustos' cousin, lying on the pavement. Bustos was hanging out the door on the passenger side.

D.C. Building Activity for July Continues Fast Pace

Building activity in Daly City during July, reflected in the number of building permits issued for the month, continued an accelerated pace recorded in the first six months of this year.

Last month, the Daly City Building Inspector's Department issued 127 permits for construction that will be valued at an estimated $1,419,425.

This compares with 69 permits issued in July of last year for construction that was to cost $1,212,860.

Accounting for the major part of the increase was a jump in new home building. Fifty-four permits for new homes were issued in July of this year, compared to 13 in the same period in 1964. Many of the homes are being built in the Serramonte subdivision.

The department also issued 11 permits for duplex construction in July. No duplex permits were recorded last July.

The month's activity raised the number of building permits this year to 798, compared to 591 a year ago.

In terms of valuation, new construction to date this year has cost or will cost $12,505,744 while last year at this time the figure was $8,520,780.

Accrediting Group Plans JUHS Visit

Accrediting committees of five members each will visit Jefferson, Oceana and Terra Nova High Schools and the Adult Evening School of the Jefferson Union High School District for three days next March.

The committees will be sent by the Western Association of Schools and Colleges. Chairman of the committees and the schools they will visit are:

Thomas F. Damon, principal of Cubberly Adult School in Palo Alto, Adult Evening School.

Dr. Robert A. Wendorf, director of guidance for the Acalanes Union High School District in Lafayette, Jefferson.

Francis L. Andreen Jr., consultant, secondary education, Contra Costa Schools, Oceana.

Adrian M. Stenga, principal, Sunnyvale High School, Terra Nova.

Trustees of the Jefferson district were informed of the appointment of the committee heads at a board meeting last week.

In other action, trustees approved a new sabbatical leave policy for teachers.

Under the old policy, teachers posted a bond to guarantee their return to the district after the end of the sabbatical.

COMMUTER HABITS

Riders Asked to Help Bay Study

An extensive survey of North County and Peninsula commuter riding habits will take place this week on all Greyhound suburban routes. Riders will be queried about details of their trip—where they boarded the bus, where they will get off the bus, the purpose of their trip, and other pertinent information concerning travel patterns.

Similar surveys were conducted in San Francisco and the East Bay Area early in June, and on Contra Costa and Vallejo commuter service the first week in August.

The survey is the first phase of a comprehensive transit study by the Northern California Transit Demonstration Project, a study group set up by A-C Transit, Muni and the Bay Rea Rapid Tranist District.

E. Sam Davis, project director, stated that the primary objective of the project is "to develop the best plan for the coordination of existing transportation facilities with the rapid transit network being built by BART."

On Survey Day, passengers traveling outbound will be given a card requiring only a minute or two to fill out. They are asked to write where they got on the vehicle and where they will get off.

Another question will determine where the passenger started the trip and the final destination after leaving the bus. Other inquiries will develop additional facts concerning the travel habits of passengers.

Completed cards may be handed to the operator as passengers leave the bus or mailed to NCTDP—postage-free.

"Our engineers have found, from similar surveys in other cities, that the best source of information necessary to adequately plan transportation facilities is the riders themselves. For this reason, we are going directly to them for our information," Davis said.

The data obtained from all these studies will be processed by electronic computers and, "by then, we will have an accurate picture of the travel habits of Bay Area transit riders and be able to develop a plan that will provide for future transit travel demands," said Davis.

Analysis of the surveys being made by NCTDP will be tied in with other studies being made in the Bay Area Transportation Study.

The Parking Study is presently engaged in making a through investigation of downtown parking characteristics in San Francisco, while the BATS study is a comprehensive survey of the total travel habits of persons in San Francisco and eight surrounding counties.

"By working in a close cooperation with these other agencies we will be able to establish a complete picture of the present transportation characteristics of the entire Bay area which will form a basis for planning future transportation facilities for Bay Area residents," Davis said.

The 18 months' NCTDP study is being directed by a Board of Control: James K. Carr, San Francisco director of Public Utilities; K. F. Hensel, general manager of A-C Transit, and B. R. Stokes, general manager of BART.

Fire Burns Four Acres

A grass fire at the foot of a hill in Daly City covered the city's Bayshore area with thick smoke last Wednesday before the fire burned itself out near the crest oft he hill.

Daly City firemen kept the flames from reaching a number of homes and stores near the foot of Market Street but allowed the fire to expend itself higher on the hill.

Batallion Chief Melvin Hansen said the flames swept over about four acres.

N. County Thugs to be PINed

By VERN KROGH

Clout that car?
Mug that frail?
Con that mark?
Don't, 'cause the cops'll be on your trail.

This might be the lament of the petty thug once "PIN" goes into effect.

PIN, otherwise known as "Police Information Network" was unveiled by law enforcement authorities at a press conference at the Data Processing Center of the new Alameda County Administration Building in Oakland.

Termed "a giant step forward in law enforcement" by William R. Millard, chief data processing officer for Alameda County, the new network is designed ultimately to give a police officer in the North County and the Bay Area almost instantaneous information about a car and its driver—even before he stops it.

THE ALAMEDA County Sheriff's office and Oakland Police Department has put the network into operation.

Eleven other Alameda County law enforcement agencies will join the network by the end of the year, after which San Francisco police and other police agencies throughout the nine Bay counties will be brought in.

In San Mateo County, Lt. Peter Bolich of the sheriff's office and Lt. George Bold of Redwood City Police have been named as liaison officers.

"This is a real first anywhere," Millard said as he envisaged a world-wide network connected by Early Bird satellite in the not too distant future.

NOW, WHEN an officer stops a suspicious car, he must radio his station to determine if the car is wanted or if there is a warrant outstanding for the driver. This takes time as clerks go through files.

But if warrants from all Bay cities are stored in the rows of whirring computers in the East Bay building, by the time the patrolman rolls his motorcycle or prowl car to a stop, he probably will have much of the information he needs.

When he spots a suspicious auto, the police officer will immediately radio his station, which will be tied into the giant area wide data computing center.

An operator will "key in" the license number given by the officer by punching a code number and the license number on an electric typewriter tied into computers.

Within two to four seconds the computer, if the driver of the car is wanted either on a criminal or traffic charge, will give complete information on the driver and his description, including his date of birth, his weight, the color of his hair and eyes and any other information.

SUPPOSE the driver does not match the description of the owner of the car?

The officer already has been put on his guard, and carefully approaches the vehicle.

He asks the driver his name. Although he may not get the correct spelling, the computer can record by sound the name and come up with a list of probable suspects matching the man's description.

Or, if the officer only gets the man's last name? He knows the driver is a male; he knows his approximate age, and his physical description.

The computer will come back with an almost instant answer on who the man probably is if he has been listed as wanted.

MILLARD said even if misinformation is fed into the computer, it will still come up with the most probables as to who the man might be.

"But," Millard emphasized, "the officer must always make the final decision. The computer gives only the best possible information anyone has."

Millard said as a matter of departmental policy, all officers in Oakland and in the sheriff's office are now being ordered to make a computer check every time they stop a car.

Police Chief Tom Cahill of San Francisco pointed out that there are now a half-million unserved warrants in the Bay Area alone. If collected, they would total from $5 to $7 million.

WHEN ANY DRIVER who has not paid a fine is halted in the future, the officer will know it instantly.

Claim Process Changed

California's director of veterans affairs, Joseph M. Farber, has announced the State Department of Veterans Affairs will process all claims filed by veterans in the name of the Veterans of World War I, Department of California.

Announcement of the new arrangement was made jointly by Farber and the commander of the Veterans of World War I in California, Allan C. Myers of Orland.

Word of the agreement has been sent to all county veterans service officers in California, who have been encouraged to co-operate with local service officers of the Veterans of World War I, who, in turn, have been requested to submit all veterans claims through the county veterans service officers.

S.S.F. Boys Start Paper

The South San Francisco Boys' Club has a new newspaper.

A staff including Ken Camoriano, Gary Hehle, Phil Stupi, Ron Hertz, and arts and crafts director Boo Aronson has been named.

Boys' Club member Dennis Cavaro was awarded a trophy for having his title "Boys' Club Reporter" selected as the winning name for the new newspaper.

In the first edition, activities for the summer months were outlined, with more than enough plans to keep the boys busy all summer.

Club classes during the vacation months are being conducted in trampoline, boxing, swimming, and cooking with certificates of achievements being awarded at the end of a 10-week period.

BB FOUND

Maurice Pellisier of 42 Fairlawn Avenue, Daly City, reported to police last week that someone had fired a BB through a window of his residence.

Supervisors Hobbled by Injuries to 2 Members

The County Board of Supervisors was operating at only partial strength last week because of mishaps to two of its members.

Word was received in Redwood City that Mrs. Jean Fassler suffered a severe back injury while on a family camping outing in the Mendocino National Forest and was to be confined to her sleeping bag for a few days.

William M. Werder was back at work on a part-time basis after fracturing two ribs in a freak accident in the back yard of his Redwood City home.

Werder explained that he had had a cyst removed from an eye and it left him temporarily without good distance perception. As a result, he said, he lost his balance and fell while playing with his puppy.

They Guide New D.C. Club

Louanne's Datebook

By LOUANNE HEATH

ONE OF Daly City's most youthful, but most assurely one of its fastest growning and most active groups, is the North Peninsula Circle of the Florence Crittenton Home.

Launched by 56 women in April of 1963, it already has made its presence in the community well known through its efforts at community education.

Shepherded through its first two years of existence by dynamic Mrs. Jean Markovich and now under the leadership of Mrs. Mel Bocci, the unit was formulated to support the Florence Crittenton Home for Unwed Mothers in San Francisco. Unlike many auxiliaries, the group does not content itself with impersonal financial support but supplements monetary gifts with direct services to the girls themselves.

Empathy is striven for as the members each seek the best way they may aid those residing in the home. One member goes weekly to teach knitting, another drives the knitting teacher to and from her tasks at the home.

Individual members have small luncheon parties in their homes for the girls and, during the Christmas season, cookie bakes, Christmas decoration parties, and a tour of the city's colorful Christmas exhibits, each hosted by a member for the girls, are sponsored.

While less personal, but yet requiring time away from home and the knack of meeting people, the staffing of the Still Stylish Shop in San Francisco on alternate Tuesdays had provided another area of personal service to the home.

ANNUALLY, the big fund-raising event has been a fashion show and luncheon held in November. During the first year of activity, the unit was able to present the home with a check for $553.70 after the fashion show and several smaller fund-raising events.

During its second year, the fashion show netted $1,200 and an additional $200 was raised as a result of an individual voluntary fund-raising program held in February. These are all statistics that should provide ample evidence that the group is experiencing steady growth in membership and that the membership is experiencing even more dramatic growth in commitments.

All meetings of the group are open to the public and Mrs. Markovich expressed the opinion that almost any woman who is worried about current social problems would enjoy affiliating with a group so directly concerned with one of today's major social dilemmas.

To date, the organization has drawn women from all phases of community life to its membership. It is not unusual to find leaders in educational circles, the YWCA, and P-TA among the members for the circle is eager to educate the youth and the parents of the community about problems involved with the growing number of unwed mothers and fathers as well as to offer help to those who find themselves ensnarled in such a situation.

The Daly City Circle is one of 12 in California's central section. The newly created Mid-Peninsula Circle is located in the Burlingame-San Mateo-Hillsborough area and is under the chairmanship of Mrs. Don Langendorf. Assisting Mrs. Bocci with the North Peninsula leadership are Mrs. Carol Hutchins, vice chairman; Mrs. Marie Poggio, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Lee Stringer, recording secretary, and Mrs. Mary O'Neil, treasurer.

PLAUDITS GO TO the Pacifica Artist Guild for its very excellent showing at the San Mateo County Fiesta Art Exhibit.

According to Lillian Neatherly, editor of the guild's "Dirty Palette," 742 paints were entered in the Fiesta, only 218 were accepted for the exhibit and six Pacifica artists had paintings accepted. Belle Nau, Dorothy King and Ann Eckels had paintings in the exhibit and Ruth Rosengard won two awards, a second place and an honorable mention for her works. Lucille Kent received a third place ribbon and Janet Truck won an honorable mention.

There is still time to view all the exhibit as the show will run through Saturday.

Plans are also under way for a fine arts exhibit during the Annual Art and Fuschsia Fiesta August 21 and 22 at the Sanchez Adobe. Sherri Thomas is the chairman of this art exhibit and Angel Stewart is in charge of the "Art in Action" segment.

MRS. BIANCA CASERZA, the publicity chairman of the Italian Catholic Federation, Branch 19, is urging everyone to make reservations now for a fine spaghetti dinner planned for August 21.

According to Mrs. Caserza, the dinner will be a benefit for the charities supported by the organization. The committee will begin serving at 6:30 p.m. in the parish hall of Holy Angeles Church at 107 San Pedro Road in Colma.

Reservations may be made by calling PL 6-9219. Tickets will be $1.50 for adults and children will be admitted for $1.

MRS. ELLEN BYRD, Mrs. Otilia Kelley, Mrs. Rita Sowers, Mrs. Joyce Pierce, Mrs. Ellen Droke, Mrs. Antonette Herson, Mrs. Ruthellen Stewart and Mrs. Geraldine O'Connor were among the members of the Wesley Methodist Church Women's Society for Christian Service who dined in Chinatown and toured the Gum Moon Home this past week.

According to Mrs. Pearl McGlaughlin, publicity chairman and also a member of the tour, the home is supported by the Methodist Board of Missions and serves as a residence for women newly arrived in this country from the Orient.

Founded years ago to aid Chinese slave girls who were imported to this country, the home has a colorful history as well as a worthwhile present. Women between the ages of 18 and 30 are welcomed into the household for a period of three years following their arrival in America. The staff and other new arrivals help with the difficult period of adjustment and frequently are called upon to help a new arrival learn to sew, cook or even tend her own laundry and room.

Others who enjoyed the evening outing were Mrs. McGlaughlin's daughter, Virginia, Mrs. Alice Pena, Mrs. Virginia McKeag and Mrs. Carol Booher.

Women's Society Sets Fall Meeting

The Women's Society of Wesley Methodist Church will hold its first meeting of the Fall at 8 p.m. Tuesday, September 14, at the home of its president, Mrs. David H. Pierce, of 266 St. Catherine Drive, Daly City.

Last week, the group toured the Gum Moon home in San Francisco's Chinatown, a society-sponsored home for the orientation of new residents in San Francisco.

Before the tour, the group ate at the Nan N'yuen Restaurant in Chinatown.

SANCHEZ ADOBE

Fuchsia, Art Show Readied

Pacifica's annual show of fuchsias and art works will be held the weekend of August 21-22 at the Sanchez Adobe historical monument on Linda Mar Boulevard — the scene of past shows.

Fuchsias of a variety of colors will be hung from the building's balconies and arranged into fans cascading in intricate designs.

Complementing the fuchsias will be an exhibit of works by the Pacifica Art Guild. The works will include oils, water colors and pottery.

Larry Kempher, owner of the Dal-Pac Art Gallery in Pacifica, will demonstrate the art of pottery-making at his potter's wheel.

Artists who are not members of the guild also may exhibit their works by calling Bob Southworth at 355-6735 for details.

Visitors to the Fuchsia and Art Fiesta will be entertained by strolling singers and guitarists.

A fuchsia queen, to be named at 3 p.m. Sunday, August 22, will be crowned with a tiara of Fuchsias and presented an engraved loving cup. She then will reign over the Fiesta.

Girls, four to six years old, may enter the competition for fuchsia queen. Entry blanks are available at the Mode-o-Day Shop in the Linda Mar Shopping Center.

The winner will be chosen by a well-known "personality," according to Sherri Thomas, spokesman for the Art Guild.

As a door prize for the fiesta, the Pacifica Fuchsia Society will offer a 16-by-20 heavy oil portrait by Mrs. Thomas.

Tickets for the fiesta are on sale at $1 each at the Mode-o-Day Shop or from any member of the Fuchsia Society.

The fiesta will be open from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Daly City Bride

JUDITH C. REGISTER of Daly City, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. F. Register of Hollywood, Fla., and Richard W. Coppom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mary B. Coppom of Denver, were married in Snows Catholic Church in Reno. The bride is a graduate student in counseling at San Francisco State College. The groom is the western regional car distributor for Kaiser Jeep Sales Corporation in Brisbane. (Kaufman Studio Photo)

Makeup Hints To Be Offered

KEEP OFF RIM

When you are using a nut crust for a pie, it is usually best to spread the mixture only over the bottom and sides —but not the rim—of the pie plate. This type of crust calls for sugar, nuts (finely chopped, rotary-grated or ground and a suspicion of flour or crumbs.

Cookbook Set By Sisterhood

The Sisterhood of Temple Judea is working on publication of a cook book, which will be released in the fall.

Recipe categories include hors d'oeurves and appetizers, salads, vegetables, meats and seafoods, holiday foods, desserts and pastries.

NUTMEG-CHEESE PIE

Ever add a suspicion of cinnamon and nutmeg to a graham - cracker crust for a cheese pie?

ZODIAC MOLD

Fuchsia Society Tour Scheduled

The Pacifica Fuchsia Society will conduct a tour of four fuchsia gardens from 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday.

The tour will visit the gardens of: Sherri Thomas at 2010 Palmetto Avenue, Pacifica; Lige Gentry of 412 Freemont and Mr. and Mrs. Chris Christensen of 915 Fifth Avenue, San Bruno.

NEW UNIT PLANNED

Chapter Sets Coffee Hour

Nu Sigma Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority will host a friendship coffee hour at the Westlake Park Clubhouse Sunday, August 22, from 2 to 4 p.m. Women between 18 and 22 years of age are invited to acquaint themselves with the international sorority.

Beta Sigma Phi is a social and cultural group and is not affiliated with any college and university. It was originally formed to enrich the cultural life of women who could not continue their education through the college years.

Mrs. Bert Thomas, newly appointed extension officer, announced that plans are rapidly developing to form a Nu Phi Mu Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi.

The chapter would be a "first" in this area for a younger group and would be recognized as a sister chapter to Nu Sigma. Requirement for membership will be by invitation once the chapter is formed.

Mrs. John Gotelli, membership chairman, and Mrs. Robert Samuelsen, parliamentarian, will assist Mrs. Thomas in the arranging of the coffee hour.

An invitation may be obtained by calling Mrs. Thomas at PL 5-9544 or Mrs. Gotelli at WY 2-5399.

Sugar... 'n' Spice

By NELL NORTON

MEAL PLANNING is a necessary part of our daily routine. What we have to guard against is having it become too routine — so routine that it becomes deadly dull. Because lets face it, a meat that's Dullsville to cook is Dullsville to eat.

The way to avoid this unhappy situation is to try new recipes, new ways to prepare and serve our meals. Today's recipe is just such a creation. You use hamburger, a very ordinary meat, and combine it with an interesting assortment of seasonings. Shape it into a loaf and bake it, basting it with a sweet and spicy sauce that glazes it as it bakes.

ROAST MEAT LOAF

2 eggs
1 cup milk
¾ cup quick oats
1 tablespoon salt
½ teaspoon dried savory leaves
1 tablespoon parsley
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ cup chopped onion
2½ lbs. ground meat

Beat eggs slightly. Stir in milk, oats, salt and seasonings. Set aside: Fry onions until tender. Add with meat to the above mixture. Pack into wax paper lined loaf pan 9x5x3 and store covered in refrigerator for at least 2 hours. Turn out into a shallow pan. Strip off the wax paper. Bake for 30 minutes in a 350-degree oven Meantime, make glaze and brush top and sides as it bakes for 45 minutes longer.

GLAZE

½ cup chili sauce or catsup
2 tablespoons brown sugar
¼ teaspoon dry mustard

Since we are planning a whole meal, we had better continue with a starch, a salad and a very different cake for dessert.

Potatoes come to mind with the meal, for the meatloaf soaks up most of the glaze and there is little or no sauce left and a baked potato, served with sour cream and chives, would make a delicious accompaniment.

As for a salad, the produce departments are displaying such an attractive assortment of salad greens, tomatoes, green onions and such that all you need do is trip lightly through, picking and plucking what appeals to you. (Do stop and pay at the check stand on your way out. I don't want to be the cause of a crime wave in Daly City.)

And now for this cake, which has an unusual name, an unusual method of preparation and is also unusual in not using any eggs. This recipe was given to me by Mrs. Louise Gunn of 3620 Lawton Street, San Francisco. Last year, she and her husband toured the United States in their trailer and in the course of the trip, managed to gather some interesting recipes along with all the other mementoes of their travels. This particular recipe came from Kansas.

SCREWY LOUIE CAKE

1½ cups flour
1 cup sugar
1/3 cup cocoa
1 teaspoon soda
1 tablespoon vinegar
½ cup salad oil
1 cup water
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla

Grease a 9-by-9-inch pan. Into this pan sift the flour, sugar, soda, cocoa and salt. Combine the vinegar, oil, water and vanilla and pour into the dry ingredients in the pan. Mix well, using your scraper to get all the corners mixed and then bake it in a 375-degree oven for 25 to 30 minutes.

This makes a chocolaty-chocolate cake and I made a small amount of vanilla butter frosting for mine. Delicious!

New Arts Group Seeks Donations

The newly-formed Pacifica Association of Performing Arts is seeking sponsorship donations to help it promote four pops concerts to be held at the Sanchez Adobe in Pacifica in the fall.

Persons interested in joining the group may attend its next meeting at 8 tonight in the offices of the Laguna Salada School District at 375 Reina del Mar.

An association spokesman said a contribution of $10 or more would be recognized as a sponsorship of the association.

Funds are needed so the group can hire musicians for the concerts, which have been tentatively scheduled for Sunday afternoons in October.

Terra Nova Secretary Is Honored By School P-TA

Mrs. Robert W. Cook, secretary to Dr. Harold Toninni, principal of Terra Nova High School, has been honored by the school's P-TA executive board for her service and help to the group since the P-TA was founded.

She was feted at a testimonial luncheon in Nick's Restaurant in Rockaway Beach, Pacifica.

Mrs. James Boyden, P-TA president, presented Mrs. Cook a gold lapel pin and lauded the secretary for her "many small favors and considerations" over the years.

Board members discussed the P-TA program for the coming school year, which will be centered around the theme, "Pathways to Achievement."

Present at the luncheon, in addition to Mrs. Cook and Mrs. Boyden, were:

Mrs. Jack Capacci, Mrs. Earnest DiMidovich, Mrs. Edward Davis, Mrs. LeLeon F. McKinnon, Mrs. Ed Hoag, Mrs. Robert Howard, Mrs. Victor Monin, Mrs. Walter Henkel, Mrs. Paul Rushing and Mrs. Harry Moseley.

Mrs. Bruce Hamilton, Mrs. Robert Power, Mrs. John Calverley, Mrs. Mauldin Bell and Mrs. Charles Starr.

Composer Copland Will Conduct Orchestra

American composer, Aaron Copland, will be guest conductor of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra's "Musica Viva" week, which will include programs of contemporary music, beginning March 1.

The special series of non-subscription concerts will mark Copland's debut as conductor of the San Francisco Symphony. Details will be announced later.

As a teacher, public lecurer, author, pianist and conductor, Copland has been considered an important influence in the furthering of present-day music.

He was born in Brooklyn in 1900, began studying piano at 11, and subsequently attended the Fontainebleau School of Music in France.

Later he studied with Nadia Boulanger in Paris, and, under her guidance, composed his first works.

Just before returning to the United States in 1224, he composed the Symphony for Organ and Orchestra, which Nadia Boulanger introduced with the New York Symphony Society. It marked the beginning of a successful composing career.

Potluck Lunch Slated by Wives

The YW-Wives of Daly City will conclude their summer series of meetings with a potluck luncheon at St. Martin's Episcopal Church in Daly City tomorrow. Members will meet at 10 a.m.

A number of dishes with an international cuisine will be served. The meeting will include a discussion of the group's future program and guest speakers for the Fall.

S.F. State

SCHOOL-WITH-FUN is being enjoyed at San Francisco State College by some 70 elementary girls and boys from San Francisco's Mission and Fillmore districts this summer, according to leaders of the college's tutorial program.

The youngsters are being transported to the campus in buses provided by the Jefferson High School District. They are performing in classrooms of the Frederic Burk Elementary School in such activities as arts and crafts and are also using recreational facilities of the college during summer session.

Students, faculty and administration co-operate in the program. There are 60 college student volunteers working with the School of Education whose faculty are giving counseling service.

Dr. James Bixler, associate professor of education and a department chairman, stated that the summer's work will be readily related to the regular fall program.

During the regular school term, the San Francisco State tutorial program seeks to give educational aid to children on an "each one, teach one" relationship.

School Unity Group Votes 3-Way Split

The San Mateo County Committee on School District Organization voted again last week to split the Sequoia High School District into three unified district. The vote was 8-2.

The same proposal has been rejected twice by the State Board of Education, which wants a single Sequoia unified district —that is, a district in which the administration of all high school and elementary school education would be combined.

Committee members, however said last week that they would rather continue to vote according to the way they feel about the matter than vote for a single district just because that is what the state wants.

The three-way split would form one district in the San Carlos-Belmont area, another in the Redwood City area and the third to include these elementary districts: Las Lomitas, Menlo Park, Portola Valley, Ravenswood and Woodside.

Concerning unification in the North County, the committee is awaiting an opinion from the district attorney's office on whether an informal public hearing can be conducted on a plan to unify the Laguna Salada School District within itself and to unify the Brisbane, Bayshore and Jefferson Elementary School Districts.

The plan was turned down by the State Board of Education last year. Last month, the committee rejected a proposal to unify Laguna Salada with the South San Francisco School District.

1ST TIME EVER

Fall ROTC Plan Slated at CSM

This fall, for the first time in College of San Mateo history, entering male freshmen may participate in the Army's Reserve Officer Training Corps (ROTC).

The program, which leads to a reserve commission as a second lieutenant upon completion of the ROTC work and attainment of a bachelor's degree at a college or university, is being offered through the co-operation of Stanford University.

Weekly classes will be conducted at Stanford by the university's ROTC staff, according to Philip C. Garlington, director of instruction at College of San Mateo.

After two satisfactory years as a cadet at CSM, a student will be eligible to enroll in advanced ROTC at any four-year institution which conducts this training, Garlington said. Awarding of a commission calls for active duty service for six months or two years.

In the CSM program, approximately two hours a week—on Tuesdays from 3:15-5:05 p.m.—will be devoted to first-year classes and drill at Stanford. Cadets must provide their own transportation.

Freshman courses, each of which carry one unit of credit, are in Army organization and the Army's role in national security (fall), and the role of the reserves, plus marksmanship drill (spring).

Instruction during the sophomore year, requiring three hours weekly for two units, is on American military history and principles of war (fall), and map reading and basic tactics (spring).

Enrollment is open to U.S. citizens 23 years of age or younger (the minimum is 14) who meet the physical requirements.

Help Sought Of Congress By Adventists

Thousands of Seventh-day Adventists in Western America are getting a report on a concentrated effort to find relief for Adventists who, because of religious convictions, can neither join nor financially support labor unions.

The report is from W. Melvin Adams, Washington, D. C. associate world religious liberty director of Seventh-day Adventists, and is presented in the current issue of the denomination's official weekly newspaper, the Review and Herald, published in Washington D. C.

"For a number of years," reports Adams, "Seventh-day Adventists and others holding similar convictions have been without protection against the power of labor unions to compel payment of dues."

Agreements which Seventh-day Adventists negotiated with 15 international unions in the United States 20 years ago allowing church members to pay the equivalent of union dues to charitable organization "have become inoperative, leaving our members the painful alternatives of either losing their jobs, working at lower wage scales, or compromising their religious convictions in order to be union members," notes the church official.

In co-operation with other denominations holding similar views the Seventh-day Adventist Church is now urging that a "conscience clause" be adopted by the U. S. Congress which would allow Adventists to pay into the U. S. Treasury equivalent funds of initiation fees and periodic dues uniformly required as a condition of acquiring and retaining membership in labor unions.

"This will protect individuals whose religious convictions will not allow them to have any dealings with labor unions," states Adams.

"If enacted into law, such a measure would not provide a financial advantage for the religious objector over the regular union member. It would also discourage most individuals who might be attempting to use this means to escape the requirements of union membership," Adams writes.

The church official noted that a similar arrangement works effectively in Australia and New Zealand.

In these countries, examination boards query individuals who claim they have religious scruples against joining unions.

If the individual appearing before the examining board is successful in convincing it that he has real religious convictions, he is permitted to pay the equivalent dues to the government treasury.

"The government then guarantees the right of that individual to work alongside regular union members," notes Adams.

"If such a conscience clause is not attached to and accepted with the current measure in the U. S. Congress which would, if passed, repeal Section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Law, then such a clause will be reintroduced into the U. S. House of Representatives as a separate measure," Adams states.

Congresswoman Edith Green, D-Ore., is sponsor of this conscience clause measure.

Police Surround Building, Seize D.C. Holdup Suspect

Daly City and San Francisco police surrounded a Daly City apartment building last Tuesday afternoon and arrested a suspect in connection wiht a number of holdups in the Bay Area.

At first, the suspect was believed linked to the murder of two Sacramento grocery clerks but Sacramento authorities said later he was not implicated.

Arrested in his apartment at 5 Coronado Drive was Harry T. Sherlock, 36, who, police said, also was known under 25 aliases.

Capt. David Hansen of Daly City said the suspect would be questioned in connection with two holdups at the Mayfair Market at 2350 Junipero Serra Boulard in the last five months.

April 26, two bandits escaped with an estimated $15,000 and June 23, two robbers fled with an estimated $800.

Sherlock was arrested after officers had surrounded the apartment building and awaited his return. Hansen said the suspect was surprised and offered no resistance.

San Francisco authorities said he was wanted on a charge of trying to run down a policeman after the officer had stopped him two days earlier on a traffic violation.

He also was wanted for questioning in connection with a $6,200 holdup of a Super-X market in San Francisco July 30, 1964.

Hansen said a .25 automatic pistol in the suspect's possession was seized.

The arrest was made by Det. Edward Guzman of the Daly City police and two San Francisco inspectors.

Hand-Loomed Thai Silk Collection at H. Liebes

A collection of hand-loomed Thai silk fashions, designed by the well-known Star of Siam fashion house in Bangkok, Thailand, may be seen today throug Saturday at H. Liebes in the Westlake Shopping Center in Daly City.

A spokesman for the store said that a limited selection of Thai silks has been available in the United States for only the last six years.

A variety of raw silks, shantungs, crepes, coat-weight shantungs and homespuns are used in the looming process.

The fibers are yarn-dyed and then woven. Colors range from brilliant pinks or blues to subtle pastels to intense bland and white, the spokesman noted.

The collection at H. Liebes was seletced in Bangkok by Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Liebes on a world tour this year.

Accessories, also from the Star of Siam, include hand-rolled scarves in solid or plaid-glowing hues, hand-made dinner bags and matching eye glass and cigarette cases.

D.C. Postal Aides Urged To Help Plan

Daly City Postmaster Vincent P. Murphy has announced that all Daly City Post Office employes will be asked to take part in a new postal efficiency plan outlined last month by Postmaster General John A. Gronouski.

"The postal efficiency plan includes comprehensive programs for improving postal service and reducing cost," Murphy said.

"It is our way of helping President Johnson fulfill his pledge to provide more effective and economical government service."

In Washington, Gronouski termed the plan's twin objectives of economy and service betterment "a matter of highest priority" and called for total involvement of all employes through the Post Office suggestion program.

Semi-annual reports will be made to the President, Gronouski said, and savings will be reverted to the Treasury or applied to improving Postal Service.

A committee will be organized at the Daly City Post Office to fulfill the two purposes of the plan: (1) reduce costs and (2) improve services.

Ideas suggested by employes will be taken up by the committee.

Accepted ideas will be passed on to Washington for possible application on a national level. Employes whose ideas are adopted nationwide will be given national awards. The postmaster general will personally oversee the programs.

Murphy will serve as chairman of the Daly City committee.

S.S.F. Wife Will Receive $600 Support

The wife of Vaso Boreta, impresario of topless entertainment, was granted $600 a month temporary support Thursday pending outcome of her divorce suit.

Mrs. Joan Boreta, 29, of 103 Knoll Circle, South San Francisco, accused her husband in her divorce suit of unspecified acts of extreme cruelty.

Boreta is operator of the Off Broadway night spot in San Francisco, which features topless Yvonne D'angers.

Support of $600 a month for Mrs. Boreta and two children was granted by Superior Judge Melvin E. Cohn in Redwood City. He also granted her attorney, Dennis L. Woodman, $500 on account of attorney fees, $250 for an audit of the books of Boreta Enterprises, and $100 for costs.

Boreta, who moved out of the San Francisco home in April and has been living in a San Francisco apartment, was represented by George Masconi.

Suburbia and The Crime Rate

THE ANNUAL report of crime in the United States issued by the FBI should have a special and shocking significance for the often too complacent people who live in San Mateo County and like suburban areas throughout the nation. It contains some very ugly facts.

Over-all, crime has outpaced population increase at a rate of almost six times since 1958 and the percentage rise in crime for last year was 13 per cent over 1963. It is shocking, however, to learn that last year the increases in suburban areas were 17 per cent as compared to the big cities where the increases were only 9 per cent.

Coincidental with this, the FBI report shows that persons under the age of 18 were identified as the perpetrators of 37 per cent of all serious crimes solved by police.

Here, again, the suburban areas show badly. Thirty per cent of all suburban arrests were of persons under 18, as compared with 18 per cent in the cities. In the category of serious crimes the suburban police reported arrest activity up 13 per cent, while the cities were up 11 per cent.

Persons under 25 years of age comprised 79 per cent of all police arrests in the suburbs as against 70 per cent in the cities.

THE FBI STATISTICS are hard fact, however unpalatable.

If they are surprising to local residents they are not surprising to local police officers or to this newspaper. Time and again both officers and newsmen have been literally sickened by vandalism and serious crime attributed to persons in the age bracket between seven and 19 years, and in the bracket immediately above to 25. This newspaper has given the public the stories each week but, perhaps, the cold figures by the FBI will be more impressive.

In essence, the statistics show that suburban areas have alarmingly growing crime rates and that the bulk of the offenders are either juveniles or young adults.

Some of the reasons for this appear to be intangibles such as "youthful rebellion" and the lack of parental control. Some of the other reasons are readily apparent. One of these is the fact that there are fewer police in the suburban areas.

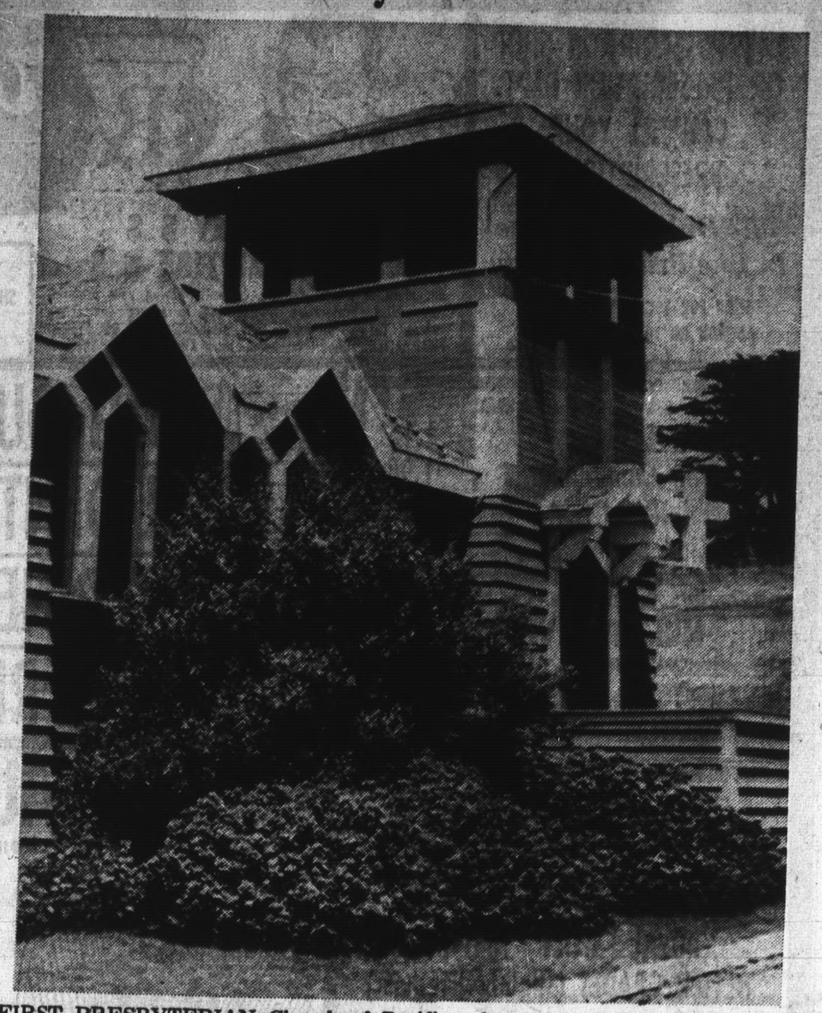
The national average for police employes is 1.9 per 1,000 population, but in the suburbs where the crime rate is higher the rate is 1.3 police employes per 1,000 population.

ANOTHER REASON is disclosed by a special FBI study. It consists of a high recidivism or "repeater" rate. The researchers found the following to be true of repeat offenders under 20 years of age:

1. They averaged 16½ years at the time of first arrest; 2. They had average criminal careers (span between first and latest charge) of one and a half years. 3. They accumulated an average of three different charges during this period. Leniency seems to have only compounded the rate for these repeaters.

Yet another reason discreetly left unmentioned by the FBI is the same one pointed out recently in these editorial columns. There seems to be a growing and over-solicitous regard by the courts for the rights of the criminal as opposed to the right of the public to be protected.

First Presbyterian Church



FIRST PRESBYTERIAN Church of Pacifica, located at Salada Avenue and Coast Highway, is the coastside's oldest church. It was built of sturdy redwood in 1909 by settlers who came to the coastside with the advent of the railroad and as such, was one of the first buildings to be erected in what is now Pacifica. The pastor is the Rev. H. D. Harkness who has served First Presbyterian for a quarter of a century. He has announced his retirement and will step down from the pulpit at the end of this month. Church membership totals about 300 worshippers. (Post-Times Photo)

High Flying at The 1st Session

Don Miller

ANY WAY you loook at it, the former high altitude flyer who is destined to steer the administrative ship of state in the Jefferson Elementary School District was greeeted by some lofty budgetary talk and some stratospheric legal mumbo jumbo at his first formal session with the board of trustees lat week.

Frank Greenwood, the man who one of these days will succeed Dick Foster at the helm of the district's staff, is used to budgetary wrangles and board disagreements because he's been a superintendent himself for the past 12 years.

In fact, he got his superintendent's baptism early in life—early for a school district administrative chief, that is—when he was named at the surprising age of 28 the head man of the Scandinavian School District in Fresno County.

When the legal wrangle that now prevents him from becoming Jefferson's superintendent in name as well in fact is cleared up, Greeenwood will be working with a district budget that for the first time in several years, trustees say, will give the district a moderate amount of flexibility in meeting unexpected situations, in beefing up its educational program if a new development calls for it and in easing the district over that tax-dry period in the fall of each year when tax revenue is about non-existent.

GREENWOOD had quite a bit to say at the district's budget hearing last week and it can be safely said that his comments played a significant part in the trustees' decision to buck the popular sentiment against tax increases in this year of increased assessments and adopt a fiscal plan that will raise the tax rate 18 cents.

In the midst of the debate over whether the district should carry a reserve to make its program flexible or cut the reserve to provide either a tax cut or the same tax as last year, Greenwood noted that the district with which he had beeen associated for the past four years had tried to play it close to the vest for three years, knowing that it wasn't living up to the "book" in providing a certain amount of built-in flexibility.

The end result, he said, was that the district came up short in the fourth year and had to raise the tax rate a hefty 28 cents to maintain its program.

Trustee O. Wayne Douglas predicted the same situation would face Jefferson in the near future unless the district acted this year to lift itself above the bare-bones, no leeway budgetary floor.

It's a pretty hard and fast maxim that nobody likes to see his taxes go up. And with all the furor created by County Assessor Ralph Woodman's hefty re-appraisal of property this year, the maxim, if anything, stood out more than ever this year.

Which leads us to the observation that right or wrong (we won't profess to be fiscal experts here), the action of Jefferson's trustees last week in upping the tax rate has to be considered a very brave move—particularly in view of the action taken the same night by the high school district in cutting its tax 29 cents.

AT ANY RATE, no soooner did Greenwood sort of ease back in his big, green overstuffed board chair after the budget was voted upon than the real electricity at last week's session began to crackle.

That was the appearance of former (or is it still?) superintendent Foster who wanted to speak, at the advice of his attorney, on the impasse he and the board had reached over terms of his resignation that the district attorney's office has ruled illegal.

This point in the proceedings was, to an observer who had sat in on many congenial and free-flowing board meetings when Foster was guiding the district's staff, a rather amazing turn of events.

All the camaraderie and the goodwill had vanished and now, it was a cold case of legal war over what Foster insists is only a technicality and what trusteees say is a point of law the district is duty-bound to follow.

THAT THE BOARD and its (former) (still) superintendent may have actually parted ways sometime ago was evidenced by the prolonged arguing over what seeemd to us to be a minor matter—whether or not Foster should be permitted to give a statement to the board before that part of the agenda reserved for visitors' comments came up.

The administrator had sat through the long budgetary debate and wanted to speak before the board passed by that part of its agenda under which it could legally take any action.

Foster's contention was that after he had spoken, the board might want to do just exactly that. But board chairman Thomas Noonan felt it would not be fair to a number of persons waiting to be heard on an item placed on the agenda ahead of visitors' comments and it was only after considerable discussion among board members that they agreed to let Foster speak then.

Now the whole thing is in the hands of attorneys and just how much longer Greenwood will have to wait before he can be called "superintendent" can only be conjecture at this point.

But whatever the interval, once he's named, it will undoubtedly be anti-climatic. For how do you go about topping THAT kind of a formal first session with your new bosses?

Better Business

The War Over Section 14(b)

Lorene Beasley

BUSINESSMEN from coast to coast are being solicited by mail and by long distance phone calls for sizeable and immediate contributions to support Freedom to Work Committee Incorporated.

Better Business Bureaus are alerting all industrial concerns not to confuse this Committee, whose form letters carry the address "National Headquarters, Suite 1400, 1411 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C., "with the well-known organization, National Right to Work Committee, headed by Reed Larsen and a group of people who are working for their beliefs, with headquarters at 1900 L Street, N.W., Washington, D.C.

The opening statement of the form letters being sent to business firms in wide areas across the country by the Freedom to Work Committee, soliciting contributions of funds to fight the repeal of Section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act (The Freedom to Work bill) reads:

"For some reason we have not received any response from you. The Time is Now, and there is no question that the unions are making an all-out effort to repeal 14(b). The fight is now."

The new group, which claims to have similar objectives of the National Right to Work Committee, informs business firms they are seeking to obtain $500,000 for the 14(b) fight.

They are asking $500 from each industrialist to make up a "war chest" to fight the repeal of section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act.

The firm is sent a pledge form by mail to be filled out and returned.

Several industrialists report that they have already sent in their check in the belief that they are fighting the section of the Taft-Hartley bill which permits the individual states to bar "closed shop" labor contracts.

The Freedom to Work Committee, Inc., is reportedly carrying the current nationwide telephone campaign to many of the people who were contacted for solicitations by the Businessmen for Goldwater Committee.

This fund-raising activity, which did not have the approval of the Goldwater campaign, was never accepted by the candidate.

CALIFORNIA is now the Number One consumer state of the country. It is expected that the personal incomes of California residents will be up 66 per cent in the next ten years.

A proportional increase in the number of schemers and promoters have arrived in California.

There also has been a great increase in the instances of services carried out for the Better Business Bureau members, business and consuming public of San Mateo County.

The number of instances of services clearly demonstrates the great need by business and citizens for such Bureau activities.

The Better Business Bureau cannot prevent rackets and cannot prevent questionable practices. It does expose them when inquiries are made bringing unethical operations to the attention of proper authorities.

As long as business and the general public continues to support rackets and deals with the firms which practice them, racketeers will continue to thrive.

Do not buy advertising, merchandise, or subscriptions, from anyone unless you are familiar with the firm or with the individual.

THIS COLUMN is prepared as part of a consumer-education program of the Better Business Bureau. Giving the public such information has already been instrumental in diverting thousands of dollars from the pockets of the fly-by-night promoters.

Businessmen ask the Bureau for confidential reports on companies, franchises, and promotional plans. The giving of factual reports on a company is a vital function of the Bureau.

These reliability reports, based on the firm's background and operational experience, enables the consumer to make a sound appraisal before he invests.

THE BETTER Business Bureau Booster Club is composed of both Bureau members and consumers.

While the membership in the Bureau is limited to business and professional firms, the individual who is conscious of the fact that freedom is maintained only by responsibility, can be an integral force in Bureau work.

If you are interested in maintaining consumer education, call your Bureau for further information on becoming a member of the Booster Club.

The Marquee

Mirth at The Forum

Barbara Bladen

Burlesque is not dead, it's only been under cover. And the wraps were taken off last week at Circle Star Theatre when Jose Ferrer and his coterie of funnymen romped through "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum."

The audience found itself laughing at things they wouldn't talk about in polite company — courtesans, mare's sweat, virginity — and that's what makes the show such a novel and off-beat entertainment. Sex is something everyone talks about these days, and that's what makes the show tick.

The situation comedy and farcical musical romp is a wildly, uninhibited production that is outrageous in its extremes. Certainly, it's silly and bawdy and raucous, but the deft handling of the double entendre is credited to a knowledgeable cast of comedians who know how far to dirty a line, how long to hold a laugh and how often to handle the girls.

We saw it on Broadway with Zero Mostel and couldn't imagine anyone else ever doing it. We were wrong. That's part of the surprise in this business, to find that Joe Ferrer's interpretation matched, if not supersedes the original. In other places it has been played by Jerry Lester, Godfrey Cambridge, Dick Shawn, and Mickey Rooney. For my money, the producers couldn't have assembled a better cast of characters for this West Coast premiere.

FERRER'S DROLLNESS, his sense of timing and an obvious relish for the role, make him the key man in this sex-propelled tableaux. He plays the scenes for laughs without mugging, without over-reaching for slapstick and with as much dignity as the funny dialogue allows ("you can't burn the body, the gods will be offended if you send them smoked virgin") and he plays well opposite such burlesque and vaudeville "pros" as Iggie Wolfington, (a rotund, exasperated slave with a collection of pornographic pottery) the three Wiere Brothers, and Ben Lessy, who steals the show as Senex, an optimistic Don Juan of the bedroom.

Stephen Soudheim's score and lyrics are difficult at best, with a few novelty numbers, "Pretty Little Picture," and "Everybody Ought to Have a Maid," offering the most vitality. "I'm Lovely" has a pleasant melody but the rest of the show is pedestrian and difficult to sing, as well as project.

This Funny World

DALY CITY police dispatcher Charley Maschinot can't seen to really get away from the job, it seems, even on vacation.

His colleagues at police headquarters received this crypitc card from him last week from Disneyland:

"70-12-18. All X's. 10-7 L.A. 952. 10-13 is 1031-A. Numerous 1123's.

10-7 Disneyland. 910.

MO equals sun, fun, beer, cheer. 10-19.

It was Charlie's way of sending a greeting in code numbers and letters used by himself and officers over the police radio network.

Roughly translated, Charlie's card was addressed to three officers on his shift and all the women in the office.

He reported out of service in Los Angeles and that the weather was clear. Further, the traffic was on the hazardous side.

He then reported out of service in Disneyland where he added he could handle things without any assistance.

His method of operation at Disneyland, he said, included soaking up the sun, having fun and drinking beer. He then reported he was returning to station.

BOARD CHAIRMAN Thomas Noonan of the Jefferson Elementary School District Board of Trustees came up with one of the better quips of the week last week when he commented during a hearing on the district's budget:

"We've become so rich we're now destitute."

He was referring to the district's higher assessed valuation and because of it, the fact that the district will receive $286,000 less in state aid during the 1965-66 fiscal year.

Trustees voted last week to adopt a budget that will result in an 18-cent boost in the tax rate.

The Book Shelf

Life on the Sports Page

Samuel Chandler

OKAY, TELL ME what the author is talking about in this paragraph: "It was a typical performance — rhythmic as a Paderewski minuet, brilliant as a Van Gogh painting, pre-ordained to success as a footrace between Bob Hayes and Whistler's Mother."

You're wrong — it is a baseball game between the Giants and the Braves with the Giants winning. The paragraph came from an article in a San Francisco newspaper.

Now tell me which page of the newspaper this was found: "Gentlemen who hold shares in Cauliflower Common or who are interested in any way in the great cauliflower industry are much disturbed by business conditions in their industry."

If you said the sports page, you were right. This excerpt was the lead to a story about — have you guessed it — boxing, by W. O. McGeehan, whose work helped to set the tone for the extraordinary style that sports reporters use.

HAVING LEARNED that a mere delineation of the particulars of this game or that will not sustain their readers' interest in spectator sports, reporters have come to employ novelty that makes the sports page one of the most interesting in the newspaper.

For example, look at this passage from an interview conducted by the well-known Red Smith:

"Dr. Joseph Paul Di Maggio, the noted diagnostician, gave it as his considered opinion recently that if the Dodgers were going to play rounders again with the Yankees, they'd better consult a good psychiatrist first. After getting slapped bubble-eyed in five world series with the bullies of the Bronx. Dr. Di Maggio thought there must be distinct symptoms of kakorrhaphiophobia."

A MASTER STYLIST among sports writers was Grantland Rice who published some of his best pieces in two volumes: "The Grantland Rice Award Prize Sports Stories" and in his biography, "The Tumult and the Shouting." In his work he used narration as if he were writing a short story. Here is his report of a Jack Dempsey fight:

"Dempsey slashed his way to victory with a right and left to the jaw that lifted the Argentine giant from his feet and hurled him headlong to the floor with a crash of a mighty oak falling from great heights."

Rice filled his stories with his own poetry and with observations that related sports to nearly every branch of knowledge. Three weeks after his biography was published he died.

EACH YEAR a collection of best sports stories is edited and published by Irving T. Marsh and Edward Ehre. For 19 years this collection has proven to be an action-packed volume with the best reporters in the business represented. Its scope includes prize-winning stories from nearly every branch of sports: From baseball to auto racing; from basketball to camping

Each issue contains one story that has been judged by a committee, headed by Quentin Reynolds, to be the best news-coverage story of the year. Most of the annuals also includes the best news-feature story and the best magazine story of the year.

Some of the best sports reporters in the business write for the periodical Sports Illustrated. Here they can be found at their novel best. For example, this piece by Whitney Tower:

"The breathless, muggy heat was a heavy blanket over New York's Aqueduct racetrack last Saturday but the 49,028 horseplayers really were sweating in nervous anticipation. At exactly 25 minutes before post time for the 77th running of the $100,000-added mile and a quarter Brooklyn Handicap the nervousness erupted audibly. . .

The sports writers are a clever bunch.

French Give Ideas for Leftover Beef

French cuisine is world famous but that fame is not based alone on fresh foods or "company foods." The French are also justly proud of their magic way with leftovers.

A good example of this is in "miroton." French dictionaries describe this as a ragout (which is their word for stew) of broken pieces of meat with devilled onions.

In this American recipe for Miroton of Beef, sliced or julienne-style beef may be used. Mushrooms as well as onions are used as the vegetables while the "devilled" flavor is contributed by vinegar, thyme and catchup.

MIROTON OF BEEF

- 6 slices roast beef, cut ¼ inch thick or 2 cups julienne-style roast beef
- ½ pound sliced fresh mushrooms
- 2 tablespoons lard or drippings
- 1 cup chopped onion
- 1 teaspoon vinegar
- 2 teaspoons flour
- 1-16 teaspoon thyme
- 1 beef bouillon cube
- 1 cup boiling water
- 1 tablespoon catchup
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- 1 tablespoon chopped parsley
- Cooked rice

Cook mushrooms in lard or drippings 5 minutes or until lightly browned. Remove mushrooms from frying-pan. Add onions to frying-pan and cook until onions are lightly browned. Add vinegar. Mix flour and thyme. Add to onion, stirring well. Dissolve bouillon cube in water. Pour into onion mixture, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens. Add catchup, salt, pepper, parsley and cooked mushrooms, mixing well. Simmer 2 to 3 minutes. Place roast beef in sauce, spooning sauce over meat. Cover frying-pan and simmer about 5 minutes or until beef is hot. Serve on hot buttered rice. 4 servings.

Yams Great In Casserole Or Fritters

Get a craving for yams? The California Sweet Potato Growers have come up with two "special" recipes for them. So indulge yourself.

Lemon-dipped Yam Fritters

- 4 medium-sized sweet potatoes or yams, cooked and peeled.
- ½ to ¾ cup lemon juice, fresh, frozen or canned
- 3 eggs
- ½ cup milk
- 1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine
- 1 cup sifted enriched flour
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 tablespoon baking powder
- ¼ teaspoon salt

Cut yams or sweet potatoes in half lengthwise and crosswise. Marinate in lemon juice 45 minutes. Drain. Beat eggs; add milk and butter. Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder and salt; stir into egg mixture. Dip yams or sweet potatoes into batter and fry in deep hot fat (375 degrees) for 2 to 3 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Sour Cream and Yam Casserole

- 4 medium-sized yams or sweet potatoes (about 4 cups; sliced
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- ½ cup finely chopped onion
- ¼ cup dry bread crumbs
- ¼ cup grated American chees
- 2 well-beaten eggs
- 1 cup sour cream
- 1 teaspoon salt
- Dash pepper

Cook potatoes or yams in boiling, salted water till tender; drain, peal, cool, and cut in thin slices. Melt butter; add onion and cook till tender but not brown. Put potatoes or yam in 1-quart casserole. Sprinkle onion, bread crumbs, and cheese over. Combine eggs, sour cream, salt, and pepper; pour mixture over the potatoes or yams. Top with additional grated cheese, if desired. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 15 to 20 minutes. Serves 6 people.

Try Elegant Lunch Dish

Here's an elegant main dish for lunch. And it's so easily and quickly prepared with canned chicken stew on hand. In a saucepan, combine 1 can (19 ounces) chicken stew, 1 can (3 ounces) sliced mushrooms (drained), and ¼ teaspoon marjoram. Heat, stirring now and then. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

Sun and Salad Season Tip

It's sun and salad season! Here's a sprightly macaroni salad for you to heap attractively in a lettuce-lined bowl and take to the patio. Mix 1 can (5 ounces) shrimp (diced) 1 cup sliced cucumber, 2 tablespoons minced onion, 1 tablespoon olive oil, and 1 tablespoon vinegar. Lightly mix in 1 can (15 ounces) macaroni with cheese sauce. Chill; serve on crisp salad greens to 3 happy people.

Pet Recipe From A Restaurateur

Get a restaurant captain talking and he's likely to tell you about some pet preparation of his own.

When a New York friend of ours dined out recently, that's just what she did—and came up with some salad know-how that she passed along to us. Here's what we learned—and tried:

You mix all the ingredients for a French-type salad dressing—except the oil—in a salad bowl. Then you add the salad greens and any other ingredients you wish. Next you cover the bowl and refrigerate it for several hours. When you are ready to serve, you bring the salad to the table, add chilled safflower oil, and toss before your family or guests. The salad will be cold and crisp.

Safflower oil, by the way, does not solidify when it's chilled, so you won't have to take it out of the refrigerator before you use it.

If you like garlic-flavored oil in your salads, peel a clove of garlic, cut it in half and drop it into the bottle of oil before chilling. Of use the garlic-flavored oil in which to brown cubes of bread for croutons in a Caesar-type salad.

In the following salad recipe, we've suggested that you use a garlic crusher. But if that small utensil is not at hand, do this. Peel a garlic clove, cut it in slivers and turn it onto a piece of heavy wax paper. Then use the flat side of a wide-blade heavy chopping knife to mash and crush the garlic slivers.

Mike's Salad

- 1 small garlic clove
- 3 tablespoons lemon juice
- ½ teaspoon dry mustard
- ½ teaspoon salt
- Freshly ground pepper to taste
- ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 5 cups mixed salad greens, packed down
- 2 medium tomatoes, each cut in 6 wedges
- 1 hard-cooked egg, chopped
- ¼ cup chilled safflower oil

Peel garlic and put through garlic-crusher into a large salad bowl. Add lemon juice, mustard, salt, pepper and Worcestershire sauce; mix well. Place salad greens and tomatoes over dressing in bowl, but do not mix. Cover tightly and chill until ready to serve. At serving time, sprinkle the chopped egg over the top of salad. Add safflower oil and toss lightly but well. Makes six servings.

Macaroni, Beef Variation

Reach for the can of elbow macaroni with ground beef, and you've a real treat in store. Delicious "as is," elbow macaroni with ground beef also takes nicely to variations—like this. In a saucepan, combine 1 can (15 ounces) elbow macaroni with ground beef and 1 tablespoon pickle relish. Heat; stir now and then. Serve with corn chips to 2 or 3.

Potato Soup For Sophisticate

Frozen condensed cream of potato soup makes sophisticated eating especially when served like this: In saucepan, combine a 10¼-ounce can soup, 1 soup can milk or water, and 1 cup finely chopped fresh spinach. Heat; stir now and then. Do not boil. Serve to 2 or 3 piping hot . . . or chill the soup well and serve in frosty bowls for added charm.

Ancestors of Mateo Artichoke Noted in Ancient Egypt

The artichoke, a San Mateo County specialty now being harvested, is a herbaceous perennial plant like a thistle.

Its scientific name is Cynara scolymus. It is grown for its edible flower which is harvested before it becomes mature.

The plants are propagated vegetatively; that is, the new plant comes from a piece of root from an old plant, much like an Iris flower is started.

This new artichoke plant will grow for many years producing the most fruit during its early years. For this reason, the plants are usually plowed up and replaced every 7 to 8 years, although there are plants that are thirty years old and still produce some fruit.

If everything is left up to nature, the artichoke will produce a crop only in the spring. With fertilizer and irrigation the plant will produce two crops a year, with about four months from the beginning of one crop to the beginning of another.

The artichokes of a particular crop are picked over a two to three month period. These crops can be regulated so that some artichokes will be available every month, weather permitting, although the main crops are in the spring and fall.

The artichoke is a cool-weather plant which likes foggy weather and heavy clay soil that will hold lots of moisture. It does not like sunny, windy days and sandy soil because these conditions rob it of the moisture it needs.

No one knows for sure where the artichoke originated, but from inscriptions in tombs in Egypt we know that this is the earliest recording in history of the artichoke. From Egypt it travelled to Greece, and then to Italy, Spain and France.

About the turn of the century artichokes were brought to the United States by Italian immigrants and were grown just south of San Francisco in San Mateo County. In 1924 the first artichokes were planted in Castroville, which now is said to have the largest concentration of artichoke acreage on the Pacific Coast.

The coastal area from San Francisco to Santa Maria is the only commercial producing area in this country.

California artichoke acreage in the 1963-64 season totaled 8,500 acres. Fresh marketed artichokes totaled 1,440 rail cars and rail car equivalents during this period, and processing artichokes (freezing and canning) totaled 14,000,000 pounds. The value of this crop was $.0978 per pound for a total of $5,308,000 for the season.

It should be pointed out that the artichoke is probably one of the most versatile of vegetables and can be deliciously used in anything from hors d'oeuvres to pie. The artichoke is equally at home at lunch, dinner or as a snack and fits anywhere in any menu.

A Fish Fry On Patio Is Easy Today

Remember the outdoor seafood fun and flavor of the old-fashioned summer fish fry? . . . With friends, festivity and backyard fish cookery that was really memorable.

For a fish fry that will bring the best in summer enjoyment to your house . . . take a leisurely afternoon . . . a barbecue pit . . . and your oldest iron skillet . . . and plenty of frozen seafoods . . . and you will have all the makin's for that old-time fish fry savor, Western style.

To add to the delight, let each guest be his own impromptu chef. Let the kids be the masters of fishstick sandwiches served on crusty rolls with tartar sauce and pickle relish. Let Dad do the honors with fish fillets cooked until golden.

Cook up scallops, breaded shrimp, and fishsticks, and serve them on a large platter with an array of secret sauces (recipes below). Then let your fish fans pick and dip their favorites.

But sure to set your patio table with summer salads, slaws and a pitcher of tea; rolls, relish and cheeses to compliment your summer fish fry flavors.

Two Ways To Enjoy Apricots

Apricots are in season—here's two ways you can enjoy them.

Apricot Gelatin Salad

2 envelopes gelatin
1 cup cold water
¾ cups apricot juice
dash of salt
1 cup crushed canned pineapple
2 teaspoons gelatin
¼ cup cold water
½ cup mayonnaise
½ pound cream cheese
1 cup chopped celery
½ cup chopped pecans
Lettuce
7 canned apricot halves
4 pineapple slices

Soften gelatin in 1 cup of cold water. Dissolve over hot water. Combine the apricot juice, lemon juice, and salt. Add the gelatin and chill until slightly thickened. Add the pineapple. Pour half of this mixture into a 1½-quart ring mold. Chill until firm.

Soften 2 teaspoons of gelatin in ¼ cup cold water. Dissolve over hot water. Gradually add the mayonnaise to the cream cheese, blending until smooth. Add the gelatin, celery and pecans. Pour over the firm gelatin in the mold. Chill until firm. Add the remaining apricot gelatin and chill until firm.

Unmold on a round chop plate, fill the center with lettuce and cover it with an apricot half place round side up on a slice of pineapple. Surround the mold with lettuce and garnish it with the remaining pineapple slices, each cut in half and topped with an apricot half.

Apricot Parfait Pie

5 cups canned apricot halves, well-drained
½ cup water
½ to ¾ cup brown sugar
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 tablespoon grated lemon rind
Pastry for 1 crust pie
Nutmeg or ginger

Combine all ingredients except pastry and nutmeg or giner and cook over moderate heat until very hot and thickened. Roll out pastry to 12-inch round and prick well all over. Shape around heat-proof bowl turned upside down on a cooky sheet, flute edges. Bake in hot oven 400 degrees about 12-14 minutes. Cool slightly before lifting pastry from bowl. Spoon hot apricot filling into crust and sprinkle with nutmeb or ginger. Serve hot with bowl of whipped cream, ice cream, or sour cream. Serve 6-8 generously.

Quickie Lunch

Hot soup makes good lunches. Try this quickie. It goes well with a fruit and cottage cheese salad. In saucepan, combine a 10½-ounce can condensed beef noodle and a 10¾-ounce can condensed old-fashioned vegetable soup and 1½ soup cans water. Heat; stir now and then. Makes 4 servings.

Carrousel du Soleil Features Four Menus

PENINSULITES CAN RIGHTLY BE PROUD of their splendid restaurants and entertainment offerings, not to mention the "big name" talent that appears weekly in the theatres. One of the newest restaurants to enhance the sparkling skyline is the swank CARROUSEL DU SOLEIL, located at the Circle Star Theatre, San Carlos. The design and decor of this exciting new dine-out site will amaze the most discriminating. You will find four different menus to delight your appetite—from noon to midnight. Luncheon daily from 11:30 a.m. to 3 p.m.; a special dinner for the theatre crowd served from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m.; regular Continental dinner service from 8 p.m. to 11 p.m., and a special menu for the late supper crowd from 11 p.m. to 1 a.m. Open seven days a week. In the entertainment spotlight is the EMIL MILLER TRIO, featuring JOE STENGER. Yes, this is the same group who had the PIONEER HOTEL dance floor filled to capacity when BODEE COMINOLI was at the restaurant helm. To bring up a point: Seems some are under the impression that the Carrousel du Soleil is a private club—not open to the public. This is not true. All are welcome here—and don't forget to bring your friends if you want to treat them to a delicious meal.

PHIL LEHR'S "one busy, dizzy guy," commuting between Reno and San Francisco, Phil opens his new, plush Reno Riviera Motel in a few weeks and is doubling the capacity of his downtown Steakery by building a new Wellington Room. . . . The year '65 has CLIFF CHALET'S DANNY HOUNTALAS holding his breath: He keeps a log of all the big shipwrecks. 1865 had more crashes than any other year—with the "Reynard," "Ann Perry," "Sheet Anchor" and "John Franklin" hitting Seal Rocks. Observes Danny, "So far, 1965 has been safe. Shows what 100 years and radar will do!" . . . LUCIEN SABELLA, (whose Fisherman's Wharf Capri Room was destroyed by fire a little over a year ago), and his family, seen dining at the popular HYATT HOUSE, Burlingame, and greeting his former maitre d', CHARLIE WARREN, who is now employed here in the same role. . . . Las Vegas HOTEL THUNDERBIRD'S new star entertainment lineup continues to shine brightly as POLLY BERGEN enters the final days of her month-long engagement in the Thunderbird's remodeled showroom. ROBERT GOULET will follow her on August 10 for a two-week stand.

VAL CONNOLLY, well known owner of Val's in Daly City, has come up with a program that should be pocket pleasing to his countless customers. He's offering a special dinner coupon which is good for $2.25 on any two dinners purchased. It includes anything on the menu, any day of the week (dinners only) . . . The Cafe Medallion in the ST. FRANCIS HOTEL is truly a gourmet's retreat. Serving a la carte and Continental cuisine. Luncheon Monday through Friday; dinner, Monday through Saturday. Not open Sunday . . . The KING'S TABLE features over 40 smorgasbord selections from which to choose your "All you can eat" luncheon or dinner . . . WILBUR STUMP, veteran San Francisco pianist, is the current attraction at the ST. CLAIR HOTEL, in San Jose . . . TONY DAVIS, VILLA HOTEL pianist, has had his contract renewed another six weeks . . . Monday through Friday luncheons attract a goodly crowd to the SKYLARK. In fact, the cocktail lounge sounds like a "family reunion."

"HOLD THAT TIGER"—Simon Axenoff, maitre d' at the beautiful Castaway Restaurant, Coyote Point, seems to have his hands full in more ways than one. Donna Sudar, dining room hostess, is admiring the Flying Tiger Lines mascot (it's for real, too) which was flown in when the airlines celebrated their twentieth anniversary at a luncheon-party held at the Castaway.

Benny Smash Hit Harah's Tahoe

Jack Benny, master of the long stare, the running gag, the squeaky violin and the penurious character, opened a three-week engagement in the South Shore Room at Harrah's Tahoe, on Monday and once again the beloved comedian proved a tremendous hit.

Benny appears through August 22. On the program are Wayne Newton, the thrilling young song-belter, dancers Brascia und Tybee, the Moro-Landis Dancers, and Leighton Noble and his orchestra.

Headlining in the Stateline Lounge is The Spike Jones Show, Jerry Colonna, and Ross and Hunt.

Congratulations to Pat and Marlin Gill on the birth of their daughter, Marshele Marie, who "weighed in" at five pounds, 15 ounces. Marlin has promised Pat (she's a former member of the San Mateo Times staff) a feast at her Uncle Vince Licata's restaurant as soon as Marshele Marie gives the "green light."

Saturday's Children, the new Tin Pan Alley musical group, is one that you definitely should not miss. Their satire, songs and talents combine to make an entertainment night-out one to remember.

Las Vegas Scouts Eye Sinaloa Duo

Las Vegas entertainment scouts have been eye-ing Luz Garcia's Sinaloa headliners, the Los Roquet Duo, one of the greatest musical teams in show business today.

Looks like they will be off to the "slot machine" territory when their current Sinaloa engagement is completed.

Los Roquet Duo well rates your look-see-listen evening on the town.

Several record firms are angling to put the sensational voice of Gayle Harris, singer with the Satellites at the Galaxie, on wax.

Defy calorie counters to say "no" when the International Inn maitre d' wheels the pastry carte table side. These mouth-watering "goodies" are cause for seconds.

Lew Lehr describes a cocktail party as a gathering at which drinks mix people!

Added Attraction At Finocchio's

Shari Lewis, who won fame as a ventriloquist with her popular puppets, "Lamb Chop" and "Hush Puppy," and now starring in "Damn Yankees," a recent hit at Berkeley's Melodyland, was truly an extra-added attraction at Finocchio's, the other night, when she was the guest of honor at a lively party at the famous Broadway club.

One of the most popular Greyhound Bus trips to Barney's Casino, Lake Tahoe (South Shore) is the San Francisco 10 p.m. departure from the Seventh Street Greyhound Bus Depot. The fare is just $7.10 round trip. You receive a $4 cash refund upon arrival at Barney's, plus a delicious breakfast.

The new Hawaiian Luau at the Hotel Claremont went over with a bang; so well, in fact, it's now served seven days a week.

WESTMOOR ALUMNUS' LOG

At the Helm With Steam

FROM A RESCUE at sea to second in command of the only steam-powered ocean-going tug in service on the West Coast—that's a current entry in the log of an alumnus of Westmoor High School.

Scott Stratton, 24-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Vinton Stratton of 195 South Mayfair Avenue, Daly City, is the chief mate aboard the Captain Bob, a 149-foot steel-hulled vessel that steamed out of the Port of Astoria in Oregon last month after 20 years in mothballs.

Other tugs of its class have been converted to diesel. However, a recent Coast Guard decision, permitting a minimum crew of 13 men instead of 21 men aboard the Captain Bob, prompted a decision by the owners not to convert the vessel to diesel.

A YEAR AGO, Stratton was adrift at sea aborad a life raft after he and fellow crewmen had abandoned a tug that had caught fire while towing a barge loaded with lumber to Hawaii. The tug exploded and sank after the crew fled in the life raft.

Crew members were rescued by a passing freighter after a Coast Guard rescue palne had dropped supplies and radioed their position.

Stratton later was employed by the Shave Transportation Company of Portland, which is leasing the Captain Bob from its owners, the Tidewater Barge Lines.

He is a graduate of the California Maritime Academy and was employed as a third mate aboard a Standard Oil Company tanker before joining a San Francisco-based tug company.

ABOARD THE Captain Bob, he is serving as a second mate for the first time. He recently passed and examination for the second mate's license.

The vessel has individual cabins for crew members, spacious by shipboard standards, heated by steam heat and completely refurbished.

The tug, Stratton, told visitors during a shake down cruise, has a hold large enough for a cargo.

The Captain Bob, however, isn't licensed for cargo but instead can carry enough spare parts to make nearly any repair needed at sea.

Stratton recalled that once while in the employ of another tug company, he spent several weeks in Hawaii, waiting while a part was shipped to the islands.

The Westmoor alumnus calls Portland his home. He and his wife, Karen, are the parents of a two-year-old daughter, Kellie. His father is acting superintendent of the Jefferson Elementary School District.

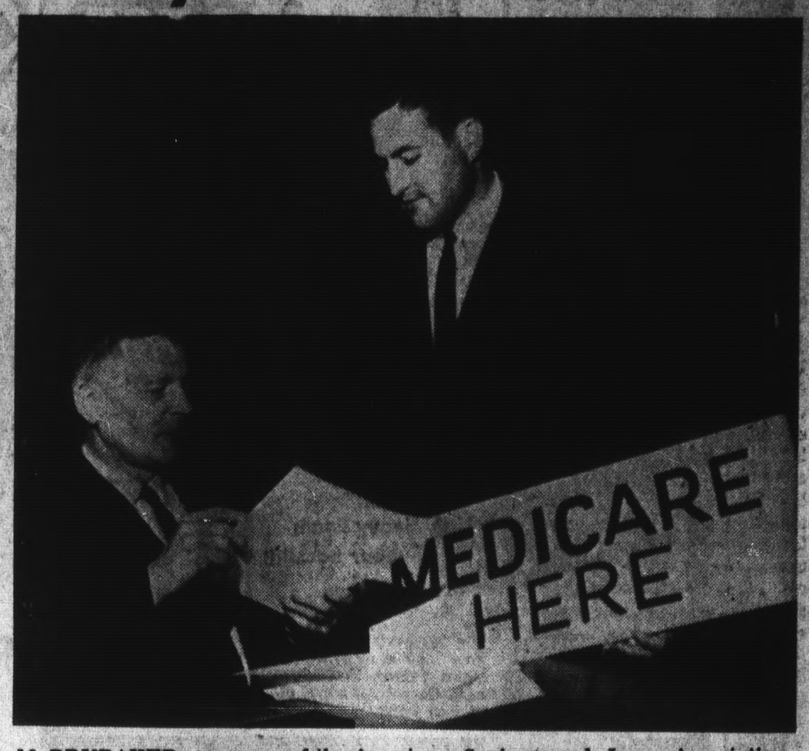
Data Center To Be Opened On Medicare

An information center, designed to provide answers to questions about the impact of the new Medicare legislation signed by President Johnson July 30, will be operated in the lobby of the Daly City branch of American Savings and Loan Association at 5 Southgate Avenue for three days this week and next week.

The center will be open from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Friday and Monday and Friday, August 20.

A Social Security representative will provide special Medicare instructions and American Savings will give away a pocket-sized booklet describing benefits under the new act.

They'll Have the Answers



R. M. BRUBAKER, manager of the American Savings and Loan Association branch in Daly City, and Everett M. Eaton, district manager of the Society Security Administration, prepare a Medicare Information Center that will be operated at the branch in the next ten days.

Walnoth Carr of 134 Westdale Avenue, Daly City, reported to police last week that someone had shot a BB through a plate glass window.

"DENTAL HEALTH FACTS"

After eating food containing sugar or carbohydrates, acid begins forming in your mouth. You should brush your teeth within fifteen minutes after eating before the acid has a chance to damage the enamel.

Use a toothbrush with a small head. Take time: give the toothpaste a chance to work.

Brush down on upper teeth. Brush up on lower teeth. Force bristles into spaces between the teeth while brushing inner and outer surfaces.

Use scrubbing motion when brushing the chewing surfaces.

If you cannot brush your teeth after eating, you should rinse your mouth thoroughly with water.

Dr. Campbell tries to limit his practice to the making of dental plates, partial plates, removable bridges and extractions for same; however, he recommends that you see your dentist at least twice a year in order to help prolong the use of your natural teeth as even the beautiful modern dentures are not as efficient as healthy, natural teeth.

Fees Aid C of C, Coast Aide Says

The president of the Pacifica Chamber of Commerce emphasized last week that the city's contribution to the chamber comes from business license fees and not taxes on property.

In a statement, Stanley Vander Hule noted that many Pacificans and Pacifica organizations "presume" that the chamber is supported by tax dollars.

He said the chamber has requested $8,400 as the city's contribution this year and that the contribution would represent only 28 per cent of the business license fees the city will collect.

City Manager Karl Baldwin has estimated that the fees will total about $30,000 during the 1965-66 fiscal year, Vander Hule noted.

He added that he hoped Pacificans would understand that their tax dollars do not support the chamber. "It is wholly supported by the business community," he concluded.

The $8,400 requested by the chamber is an important part of the increased budget the chamber has adopted for the current fiscal year.

The budget calls for a total outlay of $17,400 or about $8,000 more than last year. The city's contribution last year was $4,200.

Chamber members last month approved a hefty boost in their yearly dues to help support the higher budget.

John Overfield, chamber manager, said the new budget would enable the chamber to expand its program and give more service to members.

3 Suspects Seized After D.C. Holdup

Three men were arrested by San Francisco police early last Wednesday, shortly after a Daly City gasoline station had been held up.

Charged with armed robbery were James Dickson, 20, Elissa Potter, 19, and Elroy Webb, 19, all of San Francisco. They had taken about $100 in receipts, police said.

The holdup was reported by Robert Ritchie, 18, of 610 Barbara Way, Hillsborough, an attendant at the Westlake Flying A Station at Alemany and Lake Merced Boulevards.

He told police the trio had driven into the station about 3:15 a.m. and asked for change for a soft drink machine. As he was opening a cash drawer, one of the bandits pressed a revolver against his back and demanded the contents of the drawer.

After the bandits had fled, Ritchie hailed a passing Daly City patrol car and police radioed a description of the bandits' auto.

A short time later, San Francisco Patrolman Tom Smith spotted the auto at Portola Drive and Rex Street and arrested the occupants.

RIFLE STOLEN

Melvin Steinberg of 192 Castillejo Drive, Daly City, reported to police last week that a rifle and $172 had been stolen from his home.

PENNIES STOLEN

Grace La Barr of 363 Rhine Street, Daly City, reported to police last week that 25 pennies had been stolen from a piggy bank.

Gun-Pointing Is Halted by WarningShot

A man who, police said, was looking for someone to shoot him was arrested by Daly City officers early yesterday morning after he had pointed a loaded gun at a gas station attendant and later at two policemen.

Emmett J. Tierney, 39, of 1700 El Camino Real, South San Francisco, was charged with assault with a deadly weapon and carrying a concealed weapon.

He told Sgt. Matthew Murray later that he had wanted someone to shoot him. Investigators said Tierney had been arrested January 27, on a drunk driving charge and had set his jail cell afire in a suicide attempt. He was badly hurt in the attempt.

Tierney was seized about 12:15 yesterday morning after George Moissant, 23, of San Francisco, an attendant at the Standard station at School and Mission Streets, called police and reported that a man was in the station, pointing a gun at him. Moissant said the man had given him a dime to make the call.

Patrolman James Van Pelt and Sgt. Murray responded and the suspect pointed the weapon first at one officer, then the other before Munny cooly drew his service revolver and fired a warning shot over the suspect's head. The suspect then surrendered the weapon.

Colma Creek 1-Year Pact Is Reached

A one-year agreement, allowing the U.S. Geological Survey to continue making stream and silt flow measurements on Colma Creek on connection with the flood control program, has been approved by the Board of Supervisors.

Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald had urged the board to approve the arrangement, pointing out that channel improvements have been held up because of silting.

Recently, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers announced it would halt work on the flood control district until satisfactory silting control was developed.

"We think we have taken adequate steps toward control of silting," County Engineer Don Wislon said. "We hope to show this by actual measurement of the amount of silting that is taking place."

The Geological Survey, which has been studying the silting problem since January of this year, will continue the program on a 50-50 cost-sharing basis with the county. The county's share for 1965-66 will be $3,575.

CALIBRATION TECHNICIANS

Several openings exist for technicians (junior/intermediate/senior levels) in our repair and calibration group. Duties will include the calibration, maintenance and repair of all types of electronic test equipment and laboratory standards. Measurement areas range from DC through microwave. Although we would prefer individuals who have had several years' directly related industrial experience, we will consider young men at the junior level if they have had formal training in electronics (U.S. Military or Junior College AA Degree) and are capable of and interested in learning this type work.

TUBE TECHNICIAN (FOR SEMICONDUCTOR PACKAGING)

An interesting opportunity exists in our device packaging group for a technician skilled in the fabrication of enclosures for electronic components. Specific experience in techniques of glass-to-metal and/or ceramic-to-metal sealing is required, together with familiarity with the operation of controlled atmosphere furnaces. Ability to design and build jigs and fixtures is also highly desirable. This is a strongly hardware-oriented job in a newly developing area of pre-production engineering and evaluation of original package designs and associated processes. It offers good opportunity for further development of skills in a creative environment. Minimum requirements are at least 3 to 5 years' recent directly applicable experience in tube and/or component fabrication. Preference will be given to applicants with 1 or 2 years' additional training in mechanical technology at junior college level.

Please do not apply in person. Mail detailed resume including salary history and requirement to Personnel Department. Interviews will be arranged for qualified applicants. We are an equal opportunity employer.

REPORT GIVEN

CSM Building Will Be Ready

College of San Mateo's new $775,000 academic classroom building will be ready for the opening of fall semester next month, the board of trustees was informed last week.

Matteo V. Vasanaro, district business manager, told trustees at their campus meeting that a solution had been found to the complex strike situation which had kept painters off the job.

"They'll be back in action, working for the general contractor," he said.

"If that arrangement hadn't worked out, we would have been faced with a real bottleneck on the project within the next few days. But now it looks like clear sailing."

The buildings will be needed to handle part of the expected record enrollment of 7,500 day students and 12,000 in the evening college when classes start September 13.

In other business on their agenda, the trustees:

INSPECTED elevation sketches, plans and building models of the new north and south campuses, as architects on both projects moved nearer to the working-drawing stage.

APPOINTED Dale W. Blust as an aeronautics instructor, and Gordon J. Brown and Sherila Wander to the faculty involved in manpower development and training act classes financed by the federal government.

SET THEIR next session for August 25.'

TOOLS STOLEN

Carmella Sung of 410 Eighty-ninth Street, Daly City, reported to police last week that auto mechanics' tools had been stolen from a carport.

Oceana Addition Nears Completi on

CONSTRUCTION of this addition to Oceana High School in Pacifica is almost complete, according to officials of the Jefferson Union High School District. The addition, part of which is not shown in photo, will include about 20 rooms. An area-wide painter's strike had held up work at the school. Officials now expect the addition to be ready for occupancy in the fall. The addition will boost the school's capacity from 950 to 1,550 students. Enrollment in September is expected to be about 1,100 students. (Post-Times Photo)

WOODMAN ACTS

Assessor Opens Files for Probe

San Mateo County Assessor Ralph E. Woodman, while expressing complete confidence in his staff, last week invited the district attorney's office to inspect his files as they pertain to tax consultants and their accounts.

District Attorney Keith G. Sorenson said he has accepted the invitation and has assigned one of his deputies, Howard Gawthrop, to do the job.

Woodman said he made the offer in response to recommendations of the State Supervisors' Association and Governor Brown that all counties make certain that there are no irregularities in their assessor's offices similar to those now under investigation in seven counties.

"I just want to be sure," Woodman declared. "Regardless of our innocence, we all have been tarred with the same brush by these accusations.

"I have every confidence in my staff. I asked for the investigation so that the general public will know the situation."

Woodman said he would not stand on Section 451 of the Revenue and Taxation Code, as San Francisco Assessor Russell Wolden has done, and refuse to open his records to inspection.

Woodman acknowledged that the records of personal property assessments are confidential and said they will not be made public.

He said, however, that he feels that the district attorney, as his legal representative, is entitled to see the information.

Sorenson said he will also keep the County Grand Jury advised of what is going on.

Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald said he had planned to ask that such an investigation be made, but that appeared to be unnecessary.
